By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Alarmed lawmakers demanded rigid new secrecy measures today after receiving reports that a top British scientist had passed hydrogen bomb—as well as atomic—secrets to Russia.

With the biggest atomic spy case of all still unfolding there were these developments:

1. Lieut. Gen. Leslie Groves, fired wartime head of the atomic energy project, faced questioning by the Senate-House Atomic Committee about the activities of Klaus Fuchs, the 38-year-old accused British scientist.

2. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was quoted by Senators as having reported to them that Fuchs had been planted as a paid Russian spy in the British atomic set-up and had given the innermost atomic secrets, and some information about the hydrogen bomb, to Moscow.

Waltham Watch May Be Revived Century-Old Factory Closed, Goes Broke

WALTHAM, Mass. — (AP)—A trustee who helped revive the century-old Waltham Watch company a year ago saw some hope today of bringing it back again.

As the oldest watch making firm in the nation closed its plant and prepared to pay off its 1,200 employees, Atty. Daniel J. Lyne, who helped reorganize the company early in 1949, said:

"Quite apart from the national interest in salvaging precision workers needed to shoot off an A-bomb or an H-bomb, there is a real reason to believe that the company could be worked out by other financing. The company has been improving steadily."

During both world wars the Waltham plant was wholly converted to turning out military timing devices such as those used in bombs and torpedoes.

Lyne accused the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of "selling the firm down the river" by refusing to extend another $2,000,000 in working capital to keep it going.

The RFC saved the company a year ago through a loan of $6,000,000. The loan was broken down into three parts: $3,000,000 to pay off debts, $2,000,000 for new plant equipment and $1,000,000 for working capital.

Refusal of the RFC to allow the firm to use the $2,000,000 earmarked for new machinery as working capital caused the plant to fold yesterday, officials said.

Father And Son Hit By Train, Killed Near Mackinaw City

MACKINAW CITY, Mich. — (AP)—Justice Thomas, 75, and his son, Joseph, 21, were killed at 8:45 a. m. today in a grade crossing accident. They lived on Route 3, Cheboygan.

New York Central passenger train No. 337, bound from Detroit to Mackinaw City, crashed into their car at a crossing on a rural side road off U. S. Route 27, six miles south of here.

The train dragged the car about 10 feet, state police said.

The accident delayed the train only a short time and it arrived in Mackinaw City at 9:20 a. m.

Ingrid's Infant To Get A Name Baby Probably Will Be Lindstrom

ROME—(AP)—Roberto Lindstrom may be the name Ingrid Bergman gives her baby son.

"It looks as though the baby's name will be Lindstrom," says Gino Sotis, lawyer for Italian film director Roberto Rossellini.

The 34-year-old Swedish film actress plans to marry Rossellini when she gets a Mexican divorce from Dr. Peter Lindstrom of Hollywood.

Dr. Pier Luigi Guidotti, 14, attended the seven-pound, 14 ounce baby's entry into the world Thursday night, said "tentatively" the baby's name is Roberto; that probably will be it.

Sotis explained that under Italian law the baby may take the last name and nationality of Miss Bergman's Hollywood husband because the birth came before signing of a divorce, now expected sometime next week in Juarez, Mexico.

Dr. Francesco Diamanti, president of the Villa Margherita Clinic where the baby was born, said he was told the baby would be baptized a Roman Catholic. Rossellini is a Catholic. Miss Bergman is not. But Diamanti said "it is possible she may embrace Catholicism."

Ingrid and Rossellini were reported considering the possibility of a Roman Catholic wedding.

A Vatican source said Rossellini had applied to the Catholic church's high tribunal, the Sacred Rota, for a church annulment of his marriage to Marcella De Marzio. Their marriage was annulled in a Vienna court and the decree later was upheld in an Italian court at Turin.

Tape-Face Bandit Robs Tacoma Stores And Tells Newspaper

TACOMA, Wash. — (AP)—A few minutes after police notified the Tacoma News-Tribune last night that another (Sawfay) grocery store had been robbed by the now well-known tape-face bandit, the telephone rang at the paper's switchboard.

"I want the city room," a voice said, and as soon as the operator made the connection, this came over the phone:

"This is Tape Face. Sawfay just made me another donation of a thousand dollars." Then he hung up.

This is the second time the bandit has called the paper to report his gains. The first time he corrected the amount claimed in a news story.

"Tape Face" has confined his depredations to grocery stores, mainly of the larger variety, and the larger restaurants, having since last fall been seen during eight or nine such robberies.

He invariably has an identifying mark of a piece of adhesive tape plastered on some portion of his face. This seems to draw the attention of those who seek him and they fail to remember his actual features.

California Couple Will Wed On Skates

VALLEJO, Calif. — They met and courted to the whir of roller skate wheels, and so will Shirley Williams, 19, of Vallejo and James Peoples, 21, of Dallas, Tex., said they're going to have a roller skate wedding here tonight.

Everybody but the parson will be mechanized. The couple say they want to be married on roller skates "for sentimental reasons."

The Rev. G. H. Braun, pastor of the Carquinez Heights Baptist church, will perform the ceremony. Peoples said. All of the principals except Mr. Braun will be on skates, he added, including a five-year-old ring bearer.

House Favors Billion Cut In Excise Levies

Democrats Lean To Deeper Reductions

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Proposals to cut excise taxes as much as $1,000,000,000 instead of the $655,000,000 recommended by the administration drew expanding Democratic support in the House today.

Some of President Truman's most constant followers joined in a drive for more and deeper reduction in the wartime levies.

They included some Democratic members of the tax-writing Ways and Means committee and a quick check indicated that the bloc, with Republicans expected to vote solidly for larger cuts, may take control and write their own ticket.

They proposed to add $325,000,000 or more to the proposed specified reductions by cutting the taxes on such things as theater tickets, local telephone bills, and cameras and other photographic equipment.

In outlining the administration's tax program in detail yesterday, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder called for higher taxes on corporations, estates and gifts, and the plugging of what he called loopholes in the present tax law. Snyder figures those increases would offset the proposed excise reductions and bring in net additional revenue of about $1,000,000,000.

Not Interested In Boost

The lawmakers showed more immediate interest in the proposed excise cuts than they did in the tax-boosting features of the administration's program.

The Ways and Means committee has 15 Democratic and 10 Republican members. Three of the Democrats came out firmly today for more reductions.

One of these three, Rep. Young (D-Ohio), said he was disappointed by the restrictions proposed on the excise taxes reductions. "I think the administration is on very unsound ground when it says that before we remove these atrocious and indefensible taxes we must first increase revenue somewhere else," he said.

Young added that he would fight for cuts in the taxes on photographic equipment and on theater admissions, which he called "the recreation of the little fellow."

Rep. King (D-Calif.) said he too would vote to reduce the taxes on admissions and photographic equipment, and Rep. Carroll (D-Colo.) said: "I'd like to cut the whole thing."

Brooding Butcher, 61, Kills Sick Daughter And Then Himself

NEW YORK — (AP)—A well-to-do retired butcher, brooding since the death of his second wife, fatally shot his ill daughter last night, then killed himself.

Minutes before the shootings, the 61-year-old father, Ernest Haas, telephoned a neighborhood doctor, and said:

"Get over here—there's going to be trouble."

Unable to gain entrance, the doctor notified police.

Haas was found dead, a 22 caliber rifle bullet in his chest. The daughter, Lucille, 22, wounded in the head from the same weapon, died a short time later in a hospital.

Police could uncover no reason for the shootings.

Neighbors said the father and daughter were deeply devoted to each other, but that the father had been depressed since his second wife died last summer.

Airforce Transport Crashes In Sea Off Puerto Rican Coast

SAN JUAN, P. R. — (AP)—A U. S. Airforce C-47 transport plane with officers and one enlisted man aboard crashed into the sea late last night just off the Puerto Rican coast.

Army and navy rescue officials there was little hope for survivors. Identification of the men was withheld.

Boy Dragged From Lake Gets Hit By Automobile

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. — (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Vincent Johnston has found the going pretty rough this week.

Wednesday night, while skating, he crashed through the ice into the deep water of Lake St. Clair, and was rescued by two quick-thinking companions.

Then, just 48 hours later, a car hit him as he rode his bicycle close to his home. He was reported in serious condition with a shattered left leg at St. Joseph Mercy hospital.

His rescue from the cold lake waters is a story in itself.

Vincent's pals, Richard Kammer, 14, and Dale Gladstone, 13, saw him go through the ice and remembered what they had learned in Boy Scout training.

Lewis Spurns Truman Coal Truce Proposal

Communist Sabotage Of Marshall Plan Spreads In Europe

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS. — (AP)—A Communist sabotage attack, aimed at smashing the Atlantic pact and Marshall aid, is spreading over western Europe.

For the moment the attacks seem confined largely to France. But American sources here think the biggest drive ultimately will come in Italy.

In France there are two immediate objectives:

1. To prevent unloading of American military equipment coming to Europe under the military aid program.

2. To cripple France's effort to save Indochina from the Communists.

Reuther Trial In Legal Mixup

Testimony Of Chic Blonde Held Up

By DWIGHT PITKIN

DETROIT — (AP)—Testimony of a chic blonde witness intended to link Carl Bolton with a stolen shotgun before the shooting of Walter Reuther, was held up in recorder's court today.

Judge O. Z. Ide said he would decide Monday whether to permit Mrs. Dorothy Collins of Toronto, Ont., thirty-ish and good looking, to tell what she knows about the gun.

Bolton, a convict, is being tried on a charge of assault with intent to kill the CIO United Auto Workers president the night of April 20, 1948.

Mrs. Collins' appearance as a prosecution witness set off a debate on legal fine points yesterday.

The arguments took so long the trial was recessed until Monday morning.

Mrs. Collins was described as having been the common law wife of John Kaliszewski, a convict who is expected to be a key witness for the state.

The state is attempting to convict Bolton with circumstantial evidence that he had a grudge against Reuther and obtained weapons for the attempted assassination.

Kaliszewski testified at Bolton's examination last October that Bolton offered him $15,000 three days before the shooting to do away with Reuther. His story was corroborated by another convict, John Pantella.

Both Kaliszewski and Pantella are serving time for a $600 store robbery. Bolton is serving 10 to 15 years for the same crime.

Snipper Steals Hair In Chicago Theater

CHICAGO — (AP)—Mrs. Maxine Parsons, 22, a former model, lost part of her almost waist-long blonde tresses to a "Jack-the-Snipper" as she sat in a movie theater yesterday.

Mrs. Parsons told police she had felt someone brush against her hair several times and then heard a "snip." Then a man seated in back of her and her husband, Eugene, 24, fled from the theater.

Parsons told police he chased the man and caught him outside the theater. They fought, Parsons said, but bystanders separated them and the man escaped. Parsons said he noticed a scissors and some blonde hair in the man's pocket.

ists. Forces fighting the French-sponsored regime there of former Emperor Bao Dai are viewed as spearhead of a Red thrust through Southeast Asia.

The Communist operation plan here in France is clearcut. A real grievance held by a local group is linked to a Cominform political aim. And the Communists have real "workers' grievances" to exploit.

Wages have lagged behind prices. Months ago the government promised to lift the freeze order on wages and permit some collective bargaining. The freeze is still on.

Troops already have been used to load cargoes intended for French soldiers fighting in Indochina. President Vincent Auriol has declared that supplies will be delivered to the men fighting Communist Ho Chi-minh's forces, regardless.

A show of government force also may break up the Communist campaign against landing American equipment. Workers in Cherbourg, the main French arrival port for the arms supplies, already have voted overwhelmingly to unload the cargoes.

New detachments of troops also have been sent to Cherbourg, where Atlantic pact shipments are expected late this month.

France's whole empire is under Communist pressure. Moscow-trained Ho Chi-minh is leading the anti-French fighters in Indochina. Communist-inspired disturbances in two French colonies on the African Ivory Coast have been suppressed by gunfire, a business unpopular at home and abroad.

Russian Guards Drop Blockade Berlin-Bound Trucks Given Free Passage

BERLIN — (AP)—The Russians abruptly dropped all inspection of Berlin-bound truck traffic shortly before noon today.

Soviet frontier guards started moving stacked-up vehicles through the Helmstedt frontier post at the rate of one every minute.

Earlier today the Soviet zone economic commission had sent word "normal" clearance of truck traffic would start Monday.

West German border police said the backlog of waiting trucks that had reached a maximum of 230 was rapidly disappearing.

C. A. Dix, U. S. transport officer said he would wait to see if the Russian clearance promise was true. He added "normal" clearance had been promised last week and had been maintained for only one day.

The Russians last night halted all truck traffic for nearly three hours, explaining the highway to Berlin was "dangerously icy." Later they opened the road and began clearing trucks at the rate of five an hour.

Financial Wizard Of England Dies

LONDON — (AP)—Lord Norman, longtime governor of the Bank of England and a powerful man of mystery in the world of finance, died in his sleep early today at his London home. He was 78.

As Montagu Collet Norman—"the Sphinx of Threadneedle street"—he headed the powerful Bank of England from 1920 to 1944.

King George VI made him a peer on his retirement as a reward for his long banking service.

The Bank of England is substantially the equivalent to the U. S. Federal reserve bank. It has broad advisory powers over finance throughout the British commonwealth and the empire.

Norman held the governorship longer than any man in the bank's 250-year history.

University's Budget Of $12 500,000 Is Branded Inadequate

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP)—The state comptroller's recommendation for a budget of $12,500,000 for the University of Michigan is "inadequate," University Provost James P. Adams said today.

He said the proposed figure for 1950-51 "falls far short of the minimum needed of $13,870,000."

Surplus Spud Plan Attacked

Brannan Orders Blue Dye For Potatoes

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's plan to sell surplus potatoes back to farmers at bargain prices drew sharp criticism today from several Senators.

Brannan directed yesterday that from 25,000,000 to 40,000,000 bushels of the 1949 spud surplus—which cost the government an average of $1.25 a bushel—be sold where grown at one cent per hundred pounds. They would be dyed blue to keep them out of regular market channels and farmers presumably would use them for animal feed and fertilizer.

"That seems to be putting pigs and livestock ahead of hungry kids," Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) told a reporter.

McCarthy urged that all farm food surpluses—such as butter, milk, eggs and potatoes—be made available for free distribution to needy people.

Other GOP lawmakers, including Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), said the decision was up to Secretary Brannan. But most of them said they thought ways could be found for human use and consumption of the surplus potatoes.

Aiken said many relief agencies do not know "they could get the potatoes merely by paying transportation costs."

Search For Lost C-54 With 44 Aboard Still Continues In Yukon

WHITEHORSE, Y. T. — (AP)—The dogged search for a fully-loaded military transport that vanished over the Yukon wastes Jan. 26 went into its ninth day today.

The few fragile leads to the fate of the big plane and the 44 persons aboard have proved groundless.

A rumor that the U. S. Air Force C-54 had been located in a narrow canyon between a cliff and glacier was spiked by search headquarters here last night.

"There is absolutely nothing to the report," American and Canadian Air Force officials said.

The rumor was heard as far away as Anchorage, Alaska, and denied there by authorities at Elmendorf Air Force base.

Naval Planes Seek Foreign U-Boat Off California Coast

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP)—Navy planes were ordered to search the waters off northern California today for a foreign submarine.

The twelfth naval district announced the flights as it received, with some skepticism, a fourth report that a U-boat had been seen off Eureka, Calif.

The Navy did not question the previous reports—two by fishing boat captains and a third by a private airplane pilot. From these descriptions Navy spokesmen said the mysterious submersible appeared to be a German craft, many of which are now in possession of the Russians.

Miners Want No Meddling, Says Big Boss

Cryptic Letter Sent To White House

WASHINGTON — (AP)—John L. Lewis today in effect rejected President Truman's proposal for a fact-finding board to investigate the coal strike. He declared that miners "do not wish three strangers" to fix their wages and working conditions.

Without directly saying so, the miners' chief thus refused to accept the president's suggestion that normal production be resumed while a three-man presidential fact-finding group made recommendations for settlement of the dispute.

Mr. Truman had given him until 5 p. m., (EST) today to reply to his proposal.

However, Lewis left the way open for at least a partial continuation of coal mining if Mr. Truman could arrange resumption of direct negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the operators.

By "three strangers" Lewis meant the president's proposed fact-finding board.

A 500-word letter from the United Mine Workers leader was delivered to the White House at 9:58 a. m. It did not in so many words reject or accept either the fact-finding proposition or the presidential plea that "normal" production be restored on Monday while negotiations continued.

No Word On Strike

United Mine Workers representatives said that the letter—one of the most cryptic Lewis ever has used in a dispute—would be the only word from their chief over the weekend.

Lewis made his reply in the midst of reports that strikes would continue or possibly spread in the fields next week.

In Illinois it was reported that Lewis already had telegraphed local leaders across the nation that a full scale strike was set for Monday.

There was doubt, too, that even a direct order from Lewis would restore normal work in the mines.

Lewis' reference to "three strangers" was to Mr. Truman's proposal for a three-man fact-finding board. Under the President's plan, all three would be named by the chief executive and

Texas Couple Has Twins For 5th Time, Count 19 Children

DENISON, Tex. — (AP)—Mrs. Henry White of Durant, Okla., has run out of names and Mr. White stopped passing out cigars long ago.

They've just had twins for the fifth time.

That makes 19 children for the Whites. Sixteen of them are living. The first twins arrived in 1932, the second in 1938, the third in 1947 and the fourth in 1949.

Two sets were girls and the other three were mixed.

Mrs. White, 41, said "I've run out of names and anyway, my sister-in-law promised to name them this time."

Defer Action On Salaries

Fire Department Ordinance Read

Formal action on a resolution, setting up salary ranges in the Escanaba fire department, was deferred at the regular meeting of the city council last night, until the next regular meeting, when the council will amend Ordinance 1 of the city Administrative code.

Section 18 of Article 11 of the ordinance will be amended to delegate duties of the fire chief and fire warden to the executive director of the department, and sections 20 and 21 of the same article of the ordinance will be repealed. An amendment to the code was drawn up last night, and will become effective after the second reading, at the next meeting.

In opening discussion on fire department salary ranges, Mayor LeMire told the council he had been informed by Rep. Einar Erlandsen that the code would have to be modified before the salary range resolution could be adopted.

Since Jack Koernke was hired as director of safety, to head both the police and fire departments, and Chief Jerry Jerow retired, action fixing authority and responsibility in the fire department has become necessary.

The city proposes to create two fire department captains, who will alternate on duty in 24-hour periods, to be next in charge under Koernke. No reduction in wages has been effected in the fire department. New captains would qualify by seniority and Civil Service examinations.

A. V. Aronson, city manager, reported to the council that new rules and regulations governing the fire department are now being drawn up under Koernke's direction. Enforcement of these will be the responsibility of the captain on duty.

The Civil Service commission has approved the new salary ranges in the department, and the creation of the two captains to be next in charge after the director, A. V. Aronson reported to the council.

Good Old Days Are Recalled

Television Brings Jazz Age Back

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—In the last couple of days I have seen two television programs which stressed the giddy 20's as a principle theme. Anita Loos' Old Rocking Chair, "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," has been rejiggered as a play, and is stacking them in the aisles here.

They got a couple of roaring 20 opuses on the fire in Hollywood, and are about to dust off Clara Bow to play a Charleston instructor (The Charleston, for benefit of full Colonels in the Air Force, is an ancient tribal dance, not a city in South Carolina.) And the March of Time has just completed a full length feature on the jazz decade called "The Golden 20s."

The dames in my age group have been saving off their hair to conform to the skull line, and plastering it around their heads in poufs. These curls are imprisoned in the 1920's coal-scuttle hat, or cloche, and you can see the waist-line dropping daily.

Arthur Godfrey has re-popularized the ukulele in the land, and I even got a squirt of Cliff Edwards working for his living with the same instrument the other night. Sophie Tucker is going great in the provinces, the coonskin coat is back, and prohibition jokes are funny again. Even the hip flask is staging a revival.

Recalls Speaking Days
I can stand another siege of the flapper, I suppose, and might even find some grisly humor in a reinstatement of prohibition, if I am the kind of chap who gets giggles from being shot at in his home by booze agents earning their pay. But I don't understand what is causing all this backwash to the gay days, unless that anything is preferable to that nice big custard pie Mr. Truman just set out to cool. Maybe the imminence of the H-bomb has driven us all back to the comfortable silliness of the jazz age.

I was a mere splinter of a lad in the speakeasy season, but I recall it well, and it was not such a bad time to be alive. In those days an atom meant a little bit of thing, and Russia was a place where they had Droschkys and Wolves who ate people who fell out of Droschkys and Hydrogen was something you sprinkled into the oxygen when you were cooking up a mess of water. There was a lot of moaning and breast-beating about lost generations, but it never came to much, because the lost generation was too young for world war one and generally too tired and feeble from drinking prohi gin to get sucked into WW twice, and so old and rickety from the shortages of WW twice that they couldn't care less about getting fried to a turn by the H-bomb in WW triple. I have speculated a lot about the lost generation, as I saw it from the ground up, and I suspect we had a bunch of boys and girls who had it real good and were making propaganda just to keep the secret of their violet fun from the old folks.

Checked Their Corsets
They flopped around in Greenwich village in 20-buck flats and got just as drunk off 20-cent vino as their heirs can get off Johnny Walker Black. They necked in rumble seats and smuggled in coonhide coats and mixed their own gin at home for no dough and performed the Black Bottom and at the big dances the gals all shucked their corsets in the little girls' room and that was about as far as the undue wickedness went. These were the people who didn't give a good gosh-awful about nothin', or so they said, and went on to prove it by getting loaded and writing lousy poetry and practicing what they referred to as free love and trial marriage and as wickedness went it was a great hunk of lip service. They were running from something and I suspect it was more from work than from war.

They talked high and noble and let the hair grow on their necks and joined Communist cells for kicks and all the time they had very little to beef about. I guess we realize that now and have fled to the security of the old lost generation, out of desperate awareness of the new post generation.

Lower Great Lakes Open, Traffic Heavy

DETROIT—(P)—Mild weather and ice-free conditions are resulting in "almost unheard of" freight shipments on the lower great lakes.

Several Detroit shipping firms report that they are maintaining regular schedules, since both Lakes St. Clair and Erie and the Detroit River are virtually free of any large ice masses.

H. W. Collins, vice-president of the Browning Steamship Lines, said his firm carried a shipment of steel from Buffalo to Detroit early in January.

"This is almost unheard of in the annals of lake freighting," he said, adding that the season is "the most open we've had to date."

The Browning Lines also have a coal freighter in daily operation between River Rouge and Toledo but Collins said this is a normal winter operation.

T. B. Mann, vice-president of Great Lakes Transport Corp., declared that until just recently, his firm had two oil tankers in operation between Toledo and Detroit. The run now has been cut out to one, but for any tanker at all to be operating is "very unusual," Mann indicated.

"The latest we've ever run before," he said, "is Dec. 13." Other officials said the mild weather might have resulted in even more shipping if it were not for the coal shortage. Most of the coal available now is going by rail.

Normally, lake shipping discontinues about mid-December, when regular premium insurance expires. This year, the expiration date was Dec. 15, although some firms made a few shipments after that date.

Such ships either run without insurance, are self-insured, or pay an insurance rate approximately three times the normal rate.

Ships which make the winter runs usually are specially equipped. Their bows are reinforced, and their engines are larger than usual for breaking through heavy flow ice.

The Browning Lines ships this year also are equipped with radar for operating in the winter fogs. "About the only difficulties we've had have been in docking in the fog," a spokesman said.

At Muskegon, Lake Michigan carferries regularly operate between Muskegon and Milwaukee. The summer cruise liner, the Muskegon Clipper, also makes regular winter runs, hauling new cars across the lake.

Officials of both firms also report "almost no difficulty with the usual slush ice, and trips have been almost untroubled with other winter difficulties."

'Support The Church' Series Starts Today

The Escanaba Daily Press today carries the first of a series of 52-weekly advertisements of the "Support The Church Campaign," which is sponsored by leading industries and business institutions.

The advertisements will appear each week under the sponsorship of the firms which view support of the church as one important means of maintaining a strong community.

The quality of the advertisements will speak for themselves, for the art is commanding and the copy full of appeal and reason.

The Escanaba Daily Press has secured the rights for the publication of this feature from E. E. Keister of Strasburg, Va., who is preparing a continuous weekly series of advertisements for the secular press of the nation. The Press is one of 400 newspapers using this material at the present time.

Church leaders, both clergy and lay, have enthusiastically endorsed the campaign, for it is said to be the first real effort to promote the churches through the secular press on a national basis.

Large Cheese Surplus Seen

Pauly Is Speaker At Convention

Continued heavy production of cheese in this country, the prospect of reduced exports to Great Britain and the threat of increased imports of cheddar will likely add up to a huge surplus in 1950, William H. Pauly of Green Bay told the U. P. Dairy Manufacturers association here. The convention will close tonight with a banquet at the House of Ludington.

"Canada will be shipping us five to ten million pounds of cheddar cheese, and it is reported that sizable blocks of Australian and New Zealand cheese will be arriving the next two or three months," Pauly said. "The present import tariff on Canadian cheese is 17 1/2 per cent ad valorem American dollar or approximately five cents per pound. I understand that the government is considering a reduction in rates. The figures discussed are 25 to 50 per cent. Lower rates naturally would be conducive to increasing imports.

"Exports of cheese, practically all American, in 1948 totaled about 95.6 million pounds, or about 8.7 per cent of the production. Of the total amount exported, about 67 million pounds went to Great Britain. Exports of cheese during the first seven months of 1949 totaled 86 million pounds. Again, the major part was to Great Britain.

Increased Consumption
"The outlook for cheese exports in 1950 is far from clear, but is not too promising at this time. Milk and cheese production has increased substantially in the European countries in the past year. Surpluses are available for export to England, but Britain's dollar shortage dictates that they buy as much as possible of their requirements in other countries.

"To offset this situation, we have an increase in consumption in this country, which is about five or six per cent larger for the first seven months of this year than for the same period in 1948. Production of cheese in 1950 will depend much upon the level and relationship of support prices for dairy products, and on the export demand, but in all probability will be large.

"Exports of cheddar cheese to Great Britain could easily be very much reduced because of their dollar shortage. The reduction in exports will have to be taken up by our own government. The government may have to purchase as much as 100 million pounds of cheese under the support program. The price of cheddar cheese, if the government continues to buy all surplus, and if no big change comes in parity, will probably not be lower than 30 cents and could be as high as 35 or 36 cents a pound."

Urges More Promotion

Ice cream manufacturers were advised by Glen C. Weld of Duluth they would have to go out to do a real selling job to get their share of the consumer's dollar this year. He is sales manager of the Bridgman-Russell company.

Weld urged the manufacturers to maintain uniform quality of ice cream, advertise new flavors and novelties extensively, and work closely with their dealers. His company has a fountain in its plant, where dealers and their employees are given instructions in the preparation of ice cream dishes and serving the public. Weld advocated a consistent newspaper advertising program to promote the sale of ice cream.

"The public wants consistency in the ice cream formula," Weld said. "They want their ice cream wrapped in attractive packages and convenient to buy."

Stresses Clean Plants

Leonard N. Francke, Lansing, executive secretary of the Michigan Milk Dealers' association, told of plans for the association's convention in Grand Rapids Feb. 14 to 16. He also discussed milk ordinances drafted at Grand Haven and other cities.

The need for cleanliness in the dairy plant was emphasized by Dr. G. M. Trout, professor of Michigan State College, in a talk on "Good Housekeeping in the Dairy Plant." A clean plant, like a clean product, is a good advertisement that will increase sales, he pointed out.

Dr. Trout will give an illustrated talk on his trip to Europe at the banquet to be held this evening. Harold P. Lindsay will preside as toastmaster.

A panel discussion was held this morning with F. M. Skiver, chief of the bureau of dairying, presiding. Participants were Don Murray, Michigan State College; George McIntyre, state department of agriculture; and William Lutz, U. P. extension dairyman.

ON WITH THE MAIL—Lawrence Bruce, Bark River mail carrier, here gets ready to shove off on his mail route with Bertil Erickson, Bark River banker, as chauffeur. Bruce became ill last August and was unable to handle the route many weeks. When he was well again, his doctor hesitated to allow him to go back because he would have to drive a car. Erickson is one of more than 30 Bark River men who took turns driving the mailman on his route. Bruce, a member of Salem Lutheran church and the American Legion, is a veteran of World War I. In the coming week, Bruce will be able to handle the 48-mile route by himself. (Daily Press Photo)

Bark River Men Take Turns Helping Their Rural Mail Carrier

BARK RIVER, Mich.—Because more than 30 Bark River working men were willing to donate four hours a day to helping him, the month of January long will live brightly in the memory of Lawrence Bruce.

Last August, after nearly 25 years service on rural route two out of Bark River, Bruce suffered a slight heart attack. While he received hospital treatment for several weeks, Hector Larson handled the route. As soon as Bruce had recovered, he became eager to get back on the route. He missed it, and besides, he had just two more years to serve before retiring with pension.

Shortly before Christmas, Bruce consulted his physician. Could he go back to work?

The doctor advised him that if it weren't for driving a car, he probably would be able to take on his job. Bruce resigned himself to await a few more weeks. Word of the situation spread rapidly in the Bark River community. Henry Boyle, Bark River postmaster, thought the fellows in the community might help by driving the mail car while Bruce delivered mail to his 1,000 patrons, on a 48-mile route. Boyle offered to handle scheduling. Most men felt they could take four hours at least one day during the month to help Bruce.

And so it began, on Jan. 3. Hector Larson started it off on the first mail delivery after New Year's. Since, ministers, bankers, merchants, farmers and factory workers have pitched in. In all, more than 30 men took turns driving the mail car. On the way, they've encountered the usual snow, ice and cold typical of January, but none complained, and none would accept pay.

The route Bruce handles is a heavy one, for the area is removed from the shopping center. Much goods is sent to Schaffer, Perronville, Whitby and Eustis by parcel post. But with popular, mild-mannered Bruce for company, the drivers had a rather enjoyable time of it.

Two other routes are served from the Bark River post office. Route one is handled by Inard R. Nelson, and the star route, which is covered by John R. Anderson.

Bruce, who is 58, has served route two from Bark River since 1925. With the exception of one year, when he delivered mail on route one from Escanaba, he has been on the job in the Bark River area continuously.

Next week Bruce takes the route by himself again, with happy appreciation for the help his neighbors extended when he needed it most.

West Hits Back At Russia In Little Blockade

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States reportedly will be joined by Britain and France in striking back at Russia's new "little blockade" of Berlin.

Soviet restrictions on transport between Berlin and western Germany prompted an announcement that this country will retaliate. Officials said joint counter measures against the Soviet zone of Germany are being discussed among the three western allies.

Presumably, any steps they take will follow the pattern of last year's counter blockade, which eventually brought trade between eastern Germany and western Europe to a halt.

The pressure on the Soviet zone was regarded at that time as one of the principal reasons why the Russians finally gave up their full scale blockade of Berlin.

The new restrictions on traffic between western Germany and the non-Communist section of Berlin have not yet assumed full blockade proportions.

State department officials consider the current slowdown operation as an effort to create new uncertainty and unrest in western Germany, thus retarding economic progress there.

City Will Write Off Old Taxes

Dubious Assets Are Considered

Alfred Lawrence, city controller of accounts, was authorized by the Escanaba city council last night to "write off" dubious assets now on city books, provided the act does not eliminate the obligation of property owners delinquent in city taxes or special assessments.

The city now carries $10,798.63 in delinquent assessments, and $3,346.81 in delinquent taxes on its books as "accounts receivable." In as much as these delinquent taxes and assessments date from 1945 and prior years, the account controller asked for permission to remove them from the city's statement of assets and liabilities, because they are "practically uncollectable."

Little can be done to enforce payment of these delinquent accounts, the controller explained, because the accounts are placed on the assessment roll. After certain periods of time the accounts revert to the county and then to the state. If the property is sold by the state, then liens against the property, such as for taxes or special assessments, are honored on a pro-rated basis.

Lawrence stated last night that $3,335.81 of the total represents liens against property which has reverted to the state, because of non-payment of taxes for three years.

Council Votes $7,390 To Pay For Building

The Escanaba city council last night approved payment of $7,390 for a steel building and footings for the structure, originally ordered to provide a factory unit for the Delta Furniture company.

The steel building, 40 by 80 feet, cost $5,890, and concrete and footings cost about $1,500. The city may use the building for cold storage of equipment, but no definite plans have been made to date.

In opening discussion on the building, Mayor LeMire explained that the building was ordered for Harry Bourke Jr., after Harnischfeger corporation had requested use of the portion of the Steele-Wallace building used by Bourke. Under terms of a contract with Bourke, the city was obligated to furnish a comparable factory building in event Bourke had to leave the Steele-Wallace building before his contract expired.

The steel building was to be erected at the ore dock site, near another city-owned building which Bourke also would have used. In the meantime, the Escanaba Industrial Foundation agreed to erect a building adjacent to the Steele-Wallace building, on Stephenson avenue, for the Delta Furniture company. Harnischfeger corporation has indicated it may later purchase this industrial building.

C. Randolph Lukens, assistant to the city manager, was presented with a certificate from the International City Managers association for completion of a correspondence course in administration, by Mayor Robert E. LeMire last night.

Other business considered by the council was a petition by Donald J. (Pedro) Pelletier, for shelters at city-owned ice rinks. No action was taken.

City Prepares To Buy Land

Empowers Manager To Negotiate

A. V. Aronson, city manager, was instructed by the city council last night to conduct negotiations with Herbert E. Flath of this city on proposed purchase of lots, with or without buildings, in the 1700 block of Ludington street.

The area has been set aside in the city master plan as a civic center. Flath recently asked for a permit to erect a new building in the 1700 block.

Members of the council and city planning commission met jointly following the council meeting last night to discuss policy and agreement on the master plan.

Varying opinions were presented by the members of each body. The planning commission stated that the area was desirable because (1) it would put good-looking buildings near the entrance to the city, (2) would help to anchor the business district, (3) was the cheapest set of desirable lots for use as a civic center in the area, and (4) was near enough to the junior high school building, so that future schools could be located there for possible joint use of some facilities.

Councilmen praised the planning commission for its endeavor and expressed its agreement with the master plan. Most of them felt however, that other sites could be used, that the cost of purchasing the area was more than the city could consider now, and that recent developments, such as purchase of the 300 block for the state office building, partially eliminated the need for that area as a future site for public buildings.

Councilmen also stated that they wanted to see construction in the city move forward and did not want to hinder efforts.

It was indicated at the joint meeting however, that the new buildings for which Flath wants a permit would be built on other sites, if the city wants to negotiate for outright purchase or trade other city property for the location.

1950 Tourist Season Is Not Far Away

THE Delta County Tourist Council will open its promotion campaign for the 1950 travel season with the placing of an exhibit at the Chicago Tribune Outdoor Show, which will open at Navy Pier next week.

Members of the tourist council will be in charge of the booth and will distribute information to the show visitors interested in spending vacations in this county next summer.

It is not too early to start promoting the 1950 tourist business. The Upper Peninsula season is no longer confined to July and August. It starts in April with the opening of trout fishing season, and is well under way when the sport fishermen come from distant cities to troll for walleye pike the latter part of May.

Delta county has a wonderful story in its walleye fishing to tell the outdoors show visitors next week. It is true there is pike fishing in many other sections of the country, but the catches that fishermen have been making on Big and Little Bay de Noc the past few years have been phenomenal.

Complete VA Hospital At Iron Mountain

ARMY engineers transferred authority over the new 250-bed hospital at Iron Mountain to the Veterans Administration in a formal ceremony in that city on Wednesday.

VA officials are now making plans for the formal opening of the institution at the earliest possible date. When this occurs, transfer of Upper Peninsula patients from VA hospitals at Wood, Wis., and other places likely will get under way. Hospitalized closer to their homes, these disabled veterans will be certain to enjoy the benefits of a greater number of visits from their relatives and friends.

To Iron Mountain the construction of the VA hospital has meant increased payrolls at a time when the large Ford plant has been operating on a curtailed basis. The payroll of the staff of doctors, nurses, technicians and other help that will be employed at the VA hospital also will mean much to the retail stores and service establishments. Actually the VA hospital is an Upper Peninsula institution and it should prove of benefit to the people of the entire area.

We're Still Paying For Stolen Goods

THE Army's Criminal Investigation Division reports that $2,000,000,000 worth of U. S. goods stockpiled in the Philippines for the invasion of Japan was stolen soon after the war ended.

Copies of these intelligence reports are in the hands of a New York newspaper. Further army inquiry is said to have been dropped. But the Defense Department is looking into the case and the Senate Investigations Committee is conducting a "preliminary check."

Unless the C. I. D. reports are grossly exaggerated, this thievery was so bold and flagrant that investigation should be pursued to the limit.

According to army intelligence, the network of stealing and black market operations was broad and deep. It included army officers and enlisted men; a large number of Filipinos, including many whose contacts reached to the top of the political ladder; Filipino law enforcement agencies, especially the police in Manila and provincial towns, and civilians of other nationalities.

The thefts covered a great range. Jeeps, trucks, quonset huts, narcotics, pipelines, even an oil tank farm were stolen. This last is a story in itself. The 17-tank farm had been a landmark for airmen. Its loss was discovered when pilots reported the landmark gone. Virtually overnight the tanks and auxiliary pipelines disappeared off the map.

The Philippine government now says it could realize just $45,000,000 from the more than $1,000,000,000 in surplus supplies allotted to it. It wants another $55,000,000 from the U. S. to make up a minimum of $100,000,000 which it says we promised would be gained from sales of the material.

Why should you and I be concerned about stealing reported to have taken place thousands of miles across the Pacific? Because these thefts are an affront to every honest citizen—who is of necessity still paying in heavy taxes for the goods siphoned into Philippine black markets.

When he has dug deep into his pocket to finance war material purchases, the citizen deserves assurance first of all that his money was well spent. If the material was not used before war ended, he should be able to feel the surplus was sensibly and honestly disposed of.

Army authorities say the involvement of Filipino law enforcement units makes it impossible to obtain punishment of the Philippine offenders or regain any great part of the stolen material.

If that is so, there would seem little reason to hand the Philippine government another $55,000,000 in lieu of those goods. If the Philippines suffer corruption that goes clear to the top, certainly the government must shoulder some of the blame.

As for army offenders, ten officers have thus far been convicted of stealing supplies. The C. I. D. indicates that many more must either have joined actively in thieving or closed their eyes to it. Every effort should be made to seize and punish others who can still be apprehended.

Maybe we can't wipe out this blot altogether. But at least we can reduce it from black to gray by showing we don't view such disgraceful dishonesty with indifference.

Escanaba Paper Mill Makes Improvements

ANNOUNCEMENT of the installation of a size press for the production of offset printing paper at the Escanaba Paper company mill is a news item of interest to the entire community.

The new equipment will mean an improvement of the product produced at the Groos mill and thereby enable it to meet the demands of the current paper market. The offset paper is used in the printing of school books, color books and other high grade publications.

The Escanaba paper mill has gone a long way in the diversification of its products since the day it was built for the original purpose of manufacturing newsprint. It is now better able to keep up with changing market trends, thus assuring a more continuous operation of the plant and more stable employment. The paper company payroll is one of the mainstays of this community's economic life.

TRAIN TROUBLES

(Marinette Eagle-Star)

The editor of the Lansford, N. D. Leader reports his community has train troubles, though the squawks of the twin cities of Marinette and Menominee against the North Western railroad can only be mild by comparison. Says the Lansford editor: "The little old train that fluctuates on this branch of the G. N. is again back on its regular winter schedule—which is two to five hours late each evening. Of course, there are exceptions to the rule. Last Saturday's northbound train didn't reach here until 11 a. m. Sunday, and Monday evening's train got here at 10:30 Tuesday night. As there is no snow to speak of, heaven help us if a blizzard happens along."

Here there are occasions when the important mail train due at 5:42 a. m. actually is only an hour late, though the arrival time is anywhere from 7 to 9 a. m. And that delayed-arrival schedule has been maintained without the interference of severe snow storms.

The mild blow which Marinette experienced Wednesday probably accounted for the fact that the mail train was a little more than two hours late. As the North Dakota editor expressed it, "Heaven help us if a blizzard happens along."

THE CITY MEAT INSPECTOR

(Green Bay Press-Gazette)

Green Bay has had a competent meat inspector on the job for only a few months, but in that time the slaughterers who were killing meat for sale in the retail shops of the city have abandoned the field. So there are no slaughtering places to be inspected.

This means that Green Bay is now getting only federally inspected meat. Those interested may draw their own conclusions. Some councilmen believe that as there is no slaughter house inspection work the inspector should be dropped from the city payroll. It certainly is the duty of the council to have an eye out for an opportunity to eliminate unnecessary expenses.

In this case, however, the city has agreed to supply inspection for slaughterers desiring to sell meat to butcher shops in the city. If the inspector is dropped, it is likely that there will be demand for this service which the city will no longer be in position to provide.

Since the present inspector is kept busy at other work the city is able to carry him as insurance against any attack on its meat inspection ordinance at a very small cost. The fact that the meat inspection ordinance has served to screen out all meat of diseased or ailing animals is worth considerable to the people.

A married man's idea of monotony: giving dictation all day and getting it all evening.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

READER'S CORNER

Sacramento: I contend that this sentence is not properly constructed: "Robert promised his father that he would pay his debts." Am I right?—D. B.

A. Right you are. The pronouns make the sentence ambiguous. Assuming that Robert's debts are meant, a rewording such as this would be necessary for clarity: "I will pay my debts," Robert promised his father. If the father's debts are meant: "I will pay your debts," Robert promised his father.

Cleveland: On a recent broadcast, Fulton Lewis, Jr., pronounced the word indices as "IN-di-sez." Shouldn't he have said "in-DY-sez"?—F. N. L.

A. Indices, the plural of index, is correctly pronounced in-di-sez, as Mr. Lewis gave it. However, the customary plural nowadays is: indices. Most of the old Latin plural forms have become obsolete except in very learned usage. "Stadiums" is preferred to "stadia"; "gymnasiums" is preferred to "gymnasia"; "Craniums" is preferred to "crania"; "solos" is preferred to "soli"; "vacuums" is preferred to "vacua"; "octopuses" is preferred to "octopi";

Secrecy Wraps H-Bomb Order

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—In the aftermath of President Truman's momentous decision, it is generally said that he had no other choice than to order production of the hydrogen bomb.

Certainly, it is true that only a very few individuals have the knowledge and background to raise any question about the decision and how it was reached. These few individuals are bound by the strictest regulations to secrecy.

Opinions have come almost exclusively from the politicians whose knowledge of the new bomb is at best rudimentary. They were for going ahead with the effort to build it.

SCIENTISTS WERE SILENT

The scientists who know infinitely more as to what it is all about did not speak out publicly. All we have had is a persistent and unconfirmed report that a majority of the scientists serving on the atomic energy commission's general advisory committee are skeptical of one phase or another of the project; and particularly as it touches every other phase of the nation's security.

In the light of this report an article by President James B. Conant of Harvard university in the current issue of Foreign Affairs takes on considerable importance. Dr. Conant is a member of the AEC committee. It is possible that his views reflect the opinion of the majority who recently submitted their report on the H-bomb.

He never discusses the issue of the bomb itself. His article is a serious and high-minded analysis of the relation between politics and science in this scientific era.

But in this broad framework Dr. Conant, a distinguished chemist, does make plain his conviction that government is today ill-equipped—scarcely equipped at all—to take major scientific-technical decisions. He goes further to say:

"... The existence of a conflict of technical opinion on many, many details in all manner of new developments of importance to our security requires that we take a careful look at the procedures used in arriving at decisions. The president and congress have ultimate authority, but neither the chief executive nor congressional committees have the time to settle the enormous number of issues which must necessarily arise in any research, development or procurement program. The worst way to make decisions is to resolve conflict in favor of those with the loudest voices or the closest affinity to political leaders."

ROCHESTER SPEECH

As though to stress its importance, Dr. Conant sounded the same theme in a speech in Rochester, N. Y., the other day. In that address, widely distributed, he said:

"Have we devised as yet even the first approximation to a satisfactory procedure for evaluating technical judgments on matters connected with the national defense? Some who have been close to it postwar scene in Washington and have followed some of the research and development projects must be inclined to answer this question in the negative."

One of these is said to be Vannevar Bush, head of the office of scientific research and development during the war. In his book, "Modern Arms and Free Men," published last fall, he says almost the same thing as Dr. Conant about the lack of planning in making major scientific decisions. He also says that "professional men of evincence... have no intention of being pushed around or being placed in an inferior status."

In what is apparently a move to remedy this lack, an effort is being made to fill the vacant position of chairman of the research of defense. William Webster of Boston, vice-president and development board in the department president of the New England Power association and at one time chairman of the defense department's military liaison committee with the atomic energy commission is being asked to consider the chairmanship. News that Webster was being sounded out was leaked from the Pentagon building and the appointment may not go through.

To the public, loudly asserted political opinion on this fearsome decision must seem of little worth. A thorough and careful appraisal by men of knowledge and the wrappings of mystery that are dangerously deceptive.

or "octopodes," etc.

Woodville: What is the derivation and pronunciation of the word porte-cochere?—Mrs. F. W. B.

A. Porte-cochere is French and means "gate for coaches," i. e., a large gate for admitting carriages into a courtyard. In American usage a porte-cochere is a carriage porch—a porch under which a carriage or car may be driven so as to protect the passengers when alighting. The English pronunciation is: port koe-SHAIR.

Oakland: A friend constantly uses the word "alright." I wrote to him "All right is always two words." He replied, "Colby says alright is alright." What about it?—C. L.

A. I have never recommended "alright" or "allright." For years I have stated in this column that "all right" is properly two words. The U. S. Government Printing Office Style Manual is our most dependable authority on such matters. "All right" is the only form permitted in government printing.

Denison: The word "cine," when it is used in connection with camera names, is pronounced like the word "sign"?—F. H. S.

A. Sorry, no. It's SIN-ee; also SIN-uh, as in cinema.

A Place to Call Home

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

BEARS—One of the most attractive features of state parks in the Upper Peninsula is the black bears that entertain—and sometimes bite—the tourists. Despite the occasional attacks on humans, the humans come right back for more.

"If people would leave the bear alone, there would be no trouble," says Knox Jamison, superintendent of the Porcupine Mountain state park near Ontonagon.

Some folks who have been attacked by bear, apparently without provocation, might find this hard to believe. But it is true. The person who is bitten by a bear, although he is doing nothing to annoy the bear, is receiving attention that should go to the person who teased him a half-hour (or a half-day) before.

So far as the bear is concerned,

all people look alike. Familiarity

from one human breeds contempt for all.

NOW DEAD—An Escanaba

man last summer was the innocent victim of an attack by a bear. This occurred in the Porcupine Mountains, where the bear have become a real problem. The victim was George Jensen, whose leg was nipped by a large bear that loitered on the highway begging for food. Other tourists had stopped to feed and photograph

the animal. The Jensens halted their car, got out to watch—and the bear came over to look for a handout. When none was forthcoming he apparently became offended and tried to enter the car, biting Mr. Jensen, who was standing in front of the car door.

That bear is now dead, Jamison tells me. It was killed last fall

by a park employee. There is no closed season on bear in Ontonagon county, or in Delta and several other U. P. counties.

UNPREDICTABLE—Bears are most unpredictable, Jamison added.

To prove the point he described the experience of a Porcupine

Mountain park employee whose job

it was to empty the refuse cans at the picnic sites. Each morning

this man would find the cans tip-pled over and a foraging bear scattering the garbage around.

The man was annoyed, to say the least. The bear was so "tame"

it refused to budge when the man came up to him. Finally the man got into the habit of giving the bear a boot in the rear to chase him out of the cans.

One morning, without warning,

the bear turned with a roar and chased the man around among the trees. Then making a bee-line for his parked truck, the man

popped inside and slammed the door—with the roaring bear ramming into the side of the truck

"A half-hour later when I saw that fellow he was still white and shaking," Jamison reported.

THE ROBBER—Bears have an inordinate appetite for food, particularly food they can steal from man.

Further back in the Porcupines,

where park employees were constructing shelter cabins on some of the hiking trails, a large bear got into the habit of stealing their food. In an effort to foil the bear, the food was placed in a large steel tool box of a kind used in

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—William Warming-ton was elected president of the Upper Michigan association of school superintendents and school board members at a meeting Saturday in Marquette.

Escanaba—Miss Marguerite L. Osier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Osier, is now training as a junior at St. Joseph's hospital school of nursing in Bloomington, Ill. She recently transferred from St. Anthony hospital in Rockford, Gladstone—Betty Anne Paine was elected president of the commercial club of Gladstone high school this week.

Manistique—Harold Rich, Sault Ste. Marie has arrived to assume his duties as county road engineer for Schoolcraft county. He formerly was assistant county engineer in Chippewa county.

Twenty Years Ago

Manistique—Mrs. Dan Garrett and son Robert John have returned from Milwaukee where they visited Captain Garrett.

Gladstone—Miss Elizabeth Kee, student of Lawrence college at Appleton, Wis., has arrived for a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. David N. Kee.

Escanaba—Miss Ceal Lafave has arrived from Milwaukee for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lafave.

John L. Lewis will be retained as long as he lives and we hope that is forever—John Owens, secretary-treasurer, United Mine Workers.

the mines. It was about five feet long and very heavy. Somehow the bear would lift the box and drop it until it opened and he would then gobble up the food.

Seeking new ways to prevent this, the men placed the steel box in a stream, took heavy forked sticks and drove them down through the handles into the stream bottom.

Next morning the tool box was found out on the bank, smashed open, the food gone. Completely disgusted with themselves and the bear, the men next night left the box out and kept watch, shooting the bear four times with a high-powered rifle. Fatally wounded, the bear crept away into the hills to die. The men were unmolested by bears until the job was finished.

SHARE ALIKE—Another time, Jamison tells me, men working far back in the park had their food box raided by bears night after night. It was suggested to them that they shoot a few times near the bear and frighten it away. One of the men tried this—and the bear let out a roar and chased him back into the cabin.

Next day Jamison asked one of the crew how they had made out with the bear.

"Well, not too bad," the man replied. "We were half successful—the bear took the ham and we got the bacon!"

VERY CUTE—Visitors to Porcupine Mountain state park enjoy the bears as much as the bears enjoy them. The bear is an uninhibited show-off who quickly loses his fear of man.

One day Jamison climbed the trail to the top of the ridge overlooking Lake of the Clouds, where a drinking fountain is located. Lolling in the water, splashing around, was a large bear, indifferent to the crowd of tourists gathered within a few feet of him.

The problem is: How far should the state go in protecting the bear for the enjoyment of the tourist? And will it ever be possible to teach the tourist not to feed the bears?

Walk On Sidewalks

Dear Editor:

Walk on the Sidewalks. That's what they want us to do over here in Gladstone. I agree it is the proper place for pedestrians to walk, but are the sidewalks safe to walk on? Maybe the youngsters don't notice them, but we old people who don't have cars and have to walk every place do. I don't think there is one sidewalk in Gladstone that is safe if the people don't shovel or throw sand on icy spots.

What's the matter with the city? It's almost taboo for us oldsters if we fall and break our hip or arm. Yours for safer walks.

Working Wives

Dear Editor:

I was very much interested in the article, "Working Wives," in the Thursday issue of the Daily Press, as it does pertain to me and many other women working.

The employment situation has been bad in Escanaba and other cities of the Upper Peninsula and many men and women are out of work because they only want certain kind of employment. As to these girls that are depending on their parents for a living, would put aside their pride and do housework, until suitable positions are available it would help a lot

BIG EGGS—Twenty-five years in farming business takes most surprises out of the game, but a little Leghorn chicken made the grade recently on the Max Pionteck farm at South Bark River. The hen, who made her appearance last spring, laid more than two dozen over-size eggs this winter. Most of the eggs measured at least seven inches in diameter, weighed more than a fourth of a pound, and all contained double yolks.

In the picture above you see Max and his daughter Marlene preparing eggs for market. Marlene holds two of the over-size ones, much too large to fit in a standard container.

The hen's performance, needless to say, pleased Pionteck. He says, "Prosperity always seems just around the corner, but when a hen lays big eggs, or we get twin calves, I always feel we've received a little extra reward for hard work." (Daily Press Photo)

Unwelcome Baby Expected In U. S.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The world is talking about two big babies today—the Bergman boy in Rome and our own little chunk of sun, the hydrogen bomb.

Both come into a divided world of doubt, angry disillusionment—and divorce.

Ingrid's little lad will be only a nine-day wonder in a globe that likes to gossip about other people's public and private lives. Everybody wishes him well, and he has a fine future before him.

Our own strapping boy, the hydrogen bomb, hasn't even been born yet. But he is on the way. Just when he'll arrive is the great secret—a secret that can't last.

And no baby in history will be more welcome. His father is fear and his mother is science, and he can't be anything but a problem child.

If he turns out to be a real juvenile delinquent, well—we all will walk a tightrope over death.

Every generation begins as a prisoner of the generation that spawned it, and ends as a caretaker of the generation that brought it into being.

What can we do for this ugly, unwanted child of our despair—and how will it take care of us as time makes it older and stronger? What crib can we build even now to hold it?

As the years go on other nations will have more of these hideous offspring, and so will we, and what will we do with them all? Once the first one is let go, they will all be free, and like maddened children they will turn against their creators and destroy us. There is no blinder wrath than that of an angry child, because it knows no control.

The mere conception of this terrible creature shows mankind, too, has lost control of itself. What, then, can it expect of its baby? The hydrogen bomb is the last, best—perhaps hopeless—argument for planned parenthood in the political realm.

Once it is born and turns bad there will be no dark closet to punish it in. But it can shut us up in a dark closet itself, and close the door behind us.

And the hydrogen bomb will then be a happy, happy orphan. A child is a problem and people Here is a picture of Main Street, Typicaltown, U.S.A. It is a glimpse of any town—our town. Its busy thoroughfare lined with shops of all kinds signifies the free business life which American communities enjoy.

To change this scene is unthinkable. And yet, this very picture is endangered by the many evils that haunt our land today. Atheism, communism, crime, and delinquency fill the air, and there are wars—and "rumors of wars."

To combat these enemies, we need love, fellowship, tolerance, and understanding—and the source of such weapons is to be found in the Church.

In order to equip more people with the banners of Christianity, in order to bring us all a fuller realization that the Church can save the things we hold dear, there will appear in this newspaper each week a series of religious pages. They will contain beautiful, human-interest pictures, and the brief, colorful stories will serve us all as reminders of our religious obligations.

This series is part of a nation-wide campaign designed to stimulate and renew interest in the Church—a need which concerns the very nature of our living.

And the people making this program possible, in cooperation with this newspaper, are those whose shops and establishments line the streets of our town. At the bottom of these pages is a list of names—the laymen and businessmen who feel the necessity for bringing the Church within the vision and grasp of more people.

To do this is to strengthen our way of life, to better it, and to make it more secure against the forces which seek its destruction.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BUY-LINES
by Sue Donimus

If you want to do a little flag waving, this is the month for it what with Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays coming up. I'm feeling pretty patriotic myself after having looked at the Elgin American and the American Jeweler dresser sets at Garard Jewelers. Fashioned in the finest jeweler's bronze, these attractive sets would really set up your dresser. There is one four piece set made in a deep red, edged with bronze that is a real "star spangled" beauty. Is it any wonder "of these I sing"?

Looking for a Valentine for the man in your life? Why not pick up a necktie at Anderson-Bloom during their terrific Semi-Annual Sale! I saw a most marvelous array when I stopped in the other day. The dollar ties are going for only 69c, and some really handsome $2.50 affairs for only $1.79. Can you tie that? Every item in the store is reduced 10% and lots of things much more than that. Men's dress shirts—normally selling up to $4.25—are going for $2.49. If you want to save money, get these bargains for your money! It's a sweetheart of a sale!

If I say two-way-stretch, I know what you think I'm talking about. Fooled you! It's something new in slip-covers! I have just seen these brand new ready made covers for davenport and studio couches at the Home Supply Co. They come in luscious decorator colors and have many advantages over the usual variety. Made of a latex yarn, the slip covers really are two-way-stretch which insures a neat snug fit. There are individual covers for each davenport cushion, and a ruffled section at the bottom is arranged for easy height adjustment. See Sure Fit Slip Covers at the Home Supply.

"I danced with the dolly with a hole in her stocking." 'Tain't true! I was just in Dolly's Stocking Shop and there's no hole in her stocking! She can mend that run in your nylons in nothing flat! And I was thrilled with the supply of hand made baby clothes, aprons, etc., for sale. Back in the shop I discovered Lillian LaFave, —seamstress extraordinary—who can make or remake a dress for you and is a whizz at alterations.

I wheeled the car out of Papa the other day and drove over to Eden's Gift Shop. There's no driving around the block looking for a parking place at Eden's —there's always room right out in front. I was in search of a present for an invalid woman — one of those difficult presents to buy. It wasn't hard to settle for the prettiest box of stationery I've seen in some days. The paper is light grey and the envelopes are lined with the most adorable bright pattern of lemons and oranges. It's a Kellogg paper and called "Verdant Enticement." Another pattern sports lobsters and crabs and is called "Drollery". From $1 to $3.

I'm not sure that debunkers are very popular... you know, the people who say Washington didn't really chop down the cherry tree, etc. Well, I'll take a chance today and give you a surprising statistic! Less than 12% of all weddings take place in June according to a recent public survey. If you are planning a wedding for any month be sure to have the invitations printed at the Office Service Co. Announcements or invitations can be had in plain printing, process printing, or engraving. Free on request at OSCO is a useful little book on wedding customs to help with your plans. They also carry a fine line of wedding place cards and printed paper napkins for the occasion.

The sweet red and white handkerchiefs at the Photo Art Shop are made expressly for Valentines Day, but will be appropriate all through the year. I saw one that was bordered in little red and white envelopes, and another with the more traditional heart design. Priced from 50c to a dollar, here is a neat little gift for someone you want to remember on Feb. 14th.

The Parents' Magazine cover girl for February is that darling little movie actress, Shari Robinson. She is wearing a Cinderella dress that makes every mother get thinking about the Easter parade and what her own pigtailer will wear. The particular dress that Shari is modeling is right out of our own Fair Store children's wear dept. It is called Rose Garden and comes in sizes for big and little sister (7 to 12, $4.98 — 3 to 6x, $3.98). It's garden sweet; pink roses on a blue background and the sleeves and collar crisped with white organdy. Comes also in green or dacia. It's a love of a dress for a little girl you love. All the Cinderella dress are!

Just drop the right kind of a hint, and you can find yourself the recipient of a piece of the excitingly lovely rhinestone jewelry at Gust Asa's. Necklaces, earrings and bracelets that are admitter with glamour make the nicest kind of Valentines. But you know how men are—you sort of have to tell them! Get busy, gal!

Prison Inmates May Work In U. S. Forests

LANSING — (P) — The U. S. Forest Service is investigating the possibility of putting Michigan prison inmates to work in Federal forests while Michigan unionists are casting a suspicious eye at the expanding program.

James Diehl and G. L. Dimmick of the regional forester's office at Milwaukee called on Corrections Commissioner Ernest C. Brooks to find on what basis he would be willing to send prisoners into the Manistee and Huron National Forests.

Brooks said that unless the state legislature appropriated special money for the purpose, the Federal government would have to foot the bill for all expenses above what it costs to maintain the men in prisons.

This would mean, Brooks said, the forest service would have to build barracks, and pay for the extra guards needed at prison camps. He emphasized he was favorable to the plan, but that he had no authority to promise any financial assistance.

Diehl and Dimmick said they would report to Washington. Their visit was instigated by Congressman Gerald R. Ford, Jr. (R-Mich) who made a tour of the Michigan prison camps last summer.

A group of AFL building trades representatives led by Robert Scott, secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor, called on Brooks to survey the work already done under the two-year-old program, and to check plans for future work.

The union leaders said they were concerned that the prisoners were coming close to competing with their men for work. They asked that in the future, proposed construction projects in state recreation areas be cleared with the unions before they were started.

Brooks outlined in detail the road building, beach cleaning, and similar construction work already done and said future work was of the same category. He said the prisoners were doing work that was not in competition with union labor but rather work that never would be done if not by prisoners.

He said he could not see how future plans could be cleared with the unions, but he said there was no disposition on the part of his department or the conservation department to infringe on the work of union members.

Widow Can't Marry Detroit Convicted Of Killing 2 Wives

DETROIT — (P) — Mrs. Mary Schmidt, who says she loved twice — convicted Bernard Niedzialkowski before he met and killed a second wife, will not be able to marry him.

Wayne county authorities denied the 39-year-old widow's request just before Niedzialkowski, 37, was sentenced to his second life prison term.

They acted on the advice of a court psychiatrist who said Niedzialkowski has "a tendency toward explosive behavior."

The prisoner was sentenced to life in 1935 after killing his wife, Olga. Twelve years later he obtained a new trial, was convicted on manslaughter instead of first degree murder, and was freed.

Last August, Mrs. Madeline Patricia Koszyk, who was married at the time to both Niedzialkowski and another man, was shot to death as she sat in a Detroit bar.

It was for that slaying that Niedzialkowski was sentenced.

"Mahatma" is a Sanskrit word meaning "great soul."

State Budget Of $135,683,653 Needed In 50-51

LANSING — (P) — Michigan's State government should cost $135,683,653 to operate in the 1950-51 fiscal year, a 3.55 per cent increase, state controller Robert F. Steadman reported.

Steadman recommended a general fund operating budget to the governor which was $4,655,461 more than this year's appropriation.

Steadman said that is the smallest budget operations increase since 1945 and that of the increase nearly a third were mandatory boosts required by law.

Steadman gave a clearer picture of what the new budget will be when it reaches the March 15 special legislative session.

Including a $158,200,000 bill for payments benefitting local government, announced last Friday, a $38,000,000 increase in the total state budget was indicated.

Steadman has not yet disclosed how much will be asked for institutional construction. But Gov. Williams has endorsed building programs amounting to at least $23,000,000.

In Red 50 Million

Thus, it was estimated, the total state budget may run to approximately $316,000,000 for the next fiscal year. Steadman estimated that such a budget would be $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 in the red.

Included in the increases were the following:

$2,519,503 for education, nearly all to absorb falling revenue from veterans in the state colleges and universities.

$928,662 in the mental health commission, half of it mandatory wage increase allowed by civil service and the remainder increased costs arising from mental hospital expansion authorized by previous legislatures.

$295,649 for the corrections system, $77,498 of this for the increased cost of keeping prisoners at the Detroit House of Correction and the remainder for civil service pay raises and the prison farm program. $319,249 for welfare, largely for the increased cost of administering old age assistance and aid to dependent children.

The executive office quoted Governor Williams in his absence as claiming that the 3.55 per cent increase amounts to a successful "holding the line" on operating expenses.

College Funds Up

The budget office said it cut $13,413,000 from the requests of state agencies.

Following are the operating recommendations for the state educational institutions:

University of Michigan, $12,500,050, up $1,063,685; Michigan State College, $10,391,000, up $1,107,000 of which $940,000 is for the actual college and the remainder for special agricultural programs; Michigan College of

More Potatoes, Not Better Ones

DAVIS, Calif. — (P) — Fertilizing a potato field will produce more potatoes, but they won't be any richer than if you didn't, says Dr. O. A. Lorenz of the College of Agriculture here. He analyzed chemically the potatoes from fertilized and unfertilized fields. Spud for spud, he found that they had about the same content of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

TWO-WAY STRETCH that's strictly inside stuff!

Look! Wrap-around rear window and top-side styling in the Riviera manner

HERE'S THE NEW 1950 BUICK SUPER 126, companion body-type to the equally new ROADMASTER 130. Both are shorter than last year's 4-door Sedans — yet 4 inches longer in wheelbase. In both, the difference is used to give you real stretch-out room in the rear seat.

What the boys did here really calls for some medals.

We gave them the job of coming up with something that was bigger inside — for room and comfort — longer in wheelbase — always important to good riding qualities — yet unbulky and easy-handling in over-all dimensions.

Just look how well this tidy number meets these "impossible" specifications!

Item one — rear-seat cushions are a full foot wider than last year's SUPERS and ROADMASTERS.

Item two — in every dimension — leg-room, head-room, hip-room, shoulder-room — this rear-seat compartment is bigger than previous models — and nearly four inches longer, fore and aft, than other 1950 Buick interiors.

Item three — wheelbases are the longest of our 1950 line. On the SUPER, it is 125 1/2" instead of 121 1/2" — on the ROADMASTER 130 1/4" instead of 126 1/4".

Yet — and here's where the magic comes in — the whole car is shorter over-all. Actually less from bumper to bumper than previous Buicks in these series.

That means easier parking, easier tucking away in family garages, easier maneuvering in crowded traffic.

There are some other things too. An extra rear-quarter window not found in standard 4-door Sedans. A different upperstructure styling that makes this body-type stand out as something pretty special.

Even special names that let you say, "I drive a SUPER 126" or "Mine's a ROADMASTER 130," just by way of being different.

Yes, we think we hit on a happy idea in the "Longfellow's," as they're coming to be known. They are not longer, on the outside, but there's a two-way stretch — in width and length — in the rear compartment.

You're going to like that — as you'll see by calling on your own Buick dealer. If he doesn't have one on hand, he can get it pretty promptly — and at a price and on a deal you'll have trouble matching, much less beating, anywhere else.

See him now, will you — about placing an order?

Examine The Circuit When Adding Outlet

Before adding even one more outlet to existing electrical installations, a householder should check the circuit to prevent an overload.

The standard electrical code limits each circuit to 12 outlets except under a few special conditions. To determine how many outlets are on any one circuit, loosen the fuse for that circuit and count the number of outlets which are dead. If there are less than 12, it is safe to add another outlet.

If the proposed addition would cause this limit to be exceeded, it is necessary to run a new circuit from the fuse box to the new work. A qualified electrician should always be employed.

Ocean temperatures range from 28 degrees Fahrenheit in polar regions to 85 degrees in the tropic seas.

Use Of Standard Lumber Cuts Cost Of Cottage

Use of standard-length lumber, with resultant saving in workmen's time and elimination of waste, is often suggested as one means of bringing construction costs down. In "The Noank," the cottage design offered today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, full advantage has been taken of such economy. This trim little dwelling uses standard 12-foot, 2x8 joists; standard length wall studs, standard size doors and windows and requires only a single main center beam to carry its entire floor load.

Fits 40-foot Frontage Lot
Furthermore, in most communities, the rectangular cottage, designed with its narrow end to the street, can be placed on a lot with a 40-foot frontage, and this is not possible with a majority of the house plans now being offered to prospective builders.

Excavation and foundation construction for this home is simple; with a rectangular form being followed for the main house, broken

It's Happened Again!

Eight Left Homeless By Marquette Blaze

MARQUETTE — (P)—A family of eight was left homeless today when fire destroyed Emil St. Aubin's seven-room house near here. The blaze, blamed on defective wiring in a nearby shed, was spotted early this morning by a neighbor, Clinton Libby, who then aroused the family. Mrs. St. Aubin and her six children fled the burning home in their nightclothes. The husband was working in Marquette when the fire occurred.

at the rear to accommodate the kitchen ell. Blueprints furnished for this cottage show an alternate setback of the front wall of the living room—an arrangement which some builders may prefer.

Firils have been eliminated entirely in designing this house, so that costs will be kept down to a minimum. Sidelwalls may be painted clapboards or shingles, brick or stone. The roof is covered with fire-resistant shingles, which come in a variety of colors. Louvers are placed in the gable ends at front and rear for attic ventilation. Insulation should be installed in the sidewalls and above all room ceilings. The house measures 25x45 feet and has a cubic content of 21,400 feet.

Fireplace Could Be Installed
The front door, opening from the porch, leads directly into the 19x12-foot living room. There is no fireplace but, if the building budget permits, one could be installed in the far end wall and tapped to the central chimney. In that case the linen closet shown in the floor plan would be moved next to the bathroom door.

The living room has a coat closet centered in the long inside wall. Opposite the front door, at the other end of the living room, an archway opens on a central hall passing bedroom and bathroom doors, leading to the dining room and continuing beyond this room, to a rear service entry. A broom closet is located at the far end of the hall. The cellar stairway descends from this part of the hall.

Space For Corner Closets
The dining room measuring 12x9 feet, is ample for a home of this size. Corner cabinets could be built in at either side of the double window.

The trim, galley-type kitchen with its equipment laid out in a step-saving U-plan, is virtually a part of the dining room, a wide archway connecting the two rooms.

The three bedrooms have individual clothes closets and each room has two windows, though only the front one has windows on two exposures. The plans call for a full cellar, with heating system installed under the bathroom and laundry equipment placed under the kitchen. The remaining space may be partitioned off to suit the family's needs and interests.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week," are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 15, Daily Press and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

(Released by the Home of the Week Plan Service, Providence 6, R. I.)

Brakes, to be effective, should be able to stop an automobile traveling at the rate of 40 miles an hour in 71 feet.

Radiant Heating Tested At M. S. C.

Value Of System To Be Determined

Radiant panel heating, the dream of householders for cheaper and cleaner uniform heat, is being tested under "almost impossible" conditions in engineering experimental tests at Michigan State College.

Results of tests with fin tubes in a drafty steel classroom building will go far in determining the value of the system under all conditions, according to Lorin G. Miller, dean of the School of Engineering.

"If we can heat that building, we can heat anything," Dean Miller said. "Specific data on costs of installation and operation will come later," he said. "But the big question now is, can it be done?" Strong winds whip under the poorly-constructed building, which stands unprotected on a plain-like area on the campus near the Red Cedar River. The building has never before been insulated or successfully heated, Dean Miller said.

Into this nightmare for a heating engineer has been installed a ceiling panel heating system. Equipment installation is under the joint auspices of the Kritzer Radiant Panels, Inc., of Chicago, and the AAA Engineering Sales Co., of Detroit and Lansing, sponsors of the project.

It's Old Stuff
Robert Waalkes, instructor in mechanical engineering at MSC, is coordinating the project. Radiant panel heating, he said, is as old as the fire boxes and wall flues of ancient Rome. In its modern form ceiling, floor, wall, or baseboard panels give off heat from straight copper coils under the surface, he said.

Hot water, steam or air is forced through the coils which are arranged between the studs, or, in some cases, are imbedded in the plaster.

The newly-developed fin tubes consist of straight copper coils with series of thin and closely-spaced fins attached perpendicular to the coils. Heat from the coils is conducted to the fins, greatly increasing the heating area and, consequently, the radiation from the panels.

This is the point that will determine the immediate future of panel heating—whether the addition of aluminum fins, the coils can give off heat adequate for buildings under all kinds of climatic or structural conditions. The system, now in use in a few Lansing and Michigan homes and buildings, must be built to fit the heating problem, Waalkes said. "It is not a package system," he said. Factors include the amount and kind of insulation and size of the building.

The principle of the radiant panel system is not to warm the air in a room or building, but to prevent excessive loss of body heat by the individual, Waalkes said.

No Cold Corners
Supporters of the radiant panel heating claim that it leaves no "cold corners" in rooms but maintains a constant temperature. Because the heating area of the panel is greater than that of a fireplace or forced warm air furnaces or steam systems, the panels need be only slightly warmer than room temperature, Waalkes added.

Waalkes said the uniform temperature of a room could be regulated with a thermostat connected with the heating unit.

Proven advantages of radiant heating, Dean Miller said, spring from the "invisibility" of steam radiators, registers or any other heating apparatus.

Dirt smudges of radiators are non-existent—a boon to housewives; because the system is between the inner and outer walls of the building; room space is conserved; and the problem of unequal heating throughout the room is eliminated.

But, most important, Waalkes said, is the possibility that radiant panel heating may eventually bring cleaner and better heat within the reach of every householder in America at a fraction of the cost of the winter coal bill.

Widely Varied
Program Thursday

"Make sure you understand the cause behind your child's behavior before you attempt criticism or correction," was the gist of Miss Esther Middlewood's talk before members and guests of Lincoln Parent Teacher's association Thursday evening at Lincoln school.

Miss Middlewood, a consultant in Mental Health, comes from the Education Division of the Department of Mental Health, Lansing. She has been in the city the past few days and everywhere she talked the audience was greatly surprised at the facts she presented and eagerly await her return next fall.

During the business session Miss Marie Benson's room received the attendance award and plans were made for a card party to be held the last week in February. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Eldon Norton, chairman, Mrs. Stanley Norton, Mrs. John Barr, Mrs. Joseph J. VanDyck, Mrs. Harvey Tutnell, Mrs. Sig Anderson and Mrs. Raoul Bertrand. Each member is asked to fill at least one table and contact the committee.

The program for the evening was announced by Mrs. Carl Wedell, program chairman. "Young Abe Lincoln" a play in four scenes was presented under the direction of Miss H. Bakka by members of the Fourth Grade room. This play dealing with the life of Abraham Lincoln from his beginning as a baby in the log cabin, his welcoming of his new mother, his work to pay for a damaged book, his clerking in the store when he short-changed Mrs. Hawkins 1 cent and walked 10 miles to return it and his work to become a lawyer, was well received by the audience, due especially to the clear enunciation of each character and the swiftness in which the story moved from scene to scene. The announcer Sharon St. John who appeared between each scene to tell what was happening in between times was especially good. Other characters were: Sally Lincoln, Joan Briggs; Nancy Hanks Lincoln, Vivian Fleck; Tom Lincoln, Jim Terrian; Betsy a neighbor, Sylvia Tutnell; Dennis, Kenneth Larion; Abe, Kenneth Caron; Little Sarah, Susan Cook; John, Robert Reno; Matilda, Collette Popour; Saran Johnston Lincoln, Jane MacFarlane; Josiah Crawford, Billy Lloyd; Mrs. Hawkins, Antonette Popish; and William Berry, Gary Olson.

Coach of the High School Faculty, was introduced by Mrs. Wedell, and he in turn, introduced the Upper Peninsula Championship debaters: Dan Van Eyck, Joan Sheahan, Margo Vieregger and Laet Richards. Mr. Frederickson spoke on the methods now used in debating, the topic, being used and also told that in April the two seniors, Dan and Joan, will enter competition with 18 other representative schools for State Championship.

This contest will not be in the form of a debate but more along the extemporaneous lines. The debaters, themselves, chiefly showed what and how each tries to prove his or her points. In conclusion Dan stated that in the evening paper he had read that the "Lodge Amendment" had passed in the Senate and if this continued along the same lines probably by 1952 we would have a different method of electing our President and he urged that every voter study this question thoroughly so that he would be certain in his own mind whether a change is needed in our present form of election for president.

Delicious refreshments were served from a table prettily centered with a gumdrop tree and red candles. Mrs. Briggs, president and Mrs. Lillian Rowell, Third grade teacher, presided at the coffee services recently purchased by the P. T. A. The kitchen committee was composed of Mrs. Dale Ott, Mrs. Eldon Norton, Mrs. Stanley

Production Upped
In Second Year
Of County DHIA

The Schoolcraft County Dairy Herd Improvement Association has made good progress in the past year, Clayton Reid, county agricultural agent, reports.

The entire association average production per cow showed an increase of more than ten percent in the year just past. Don Blosser, of Cooks, had the highest increase. His herd average was 87 pounds of butterfat higher than it was the year previous. He estimates the value of his increased production at $900 on a twelve cow herd.

This is the second year of the DHIA in the county.

Funeral Rites
For Crash Victim
Next Monday P. M.

An investigation of the circumstances involved in the railway crossing accident Friday evening that took the life of Mrs. Clayton Wood, and caused serious injury to Mrs. Dora Benson and Mrs. Hazel Wood, will be made at an inquest at the office of county Prosecutor William J. Sheahan on next Wednesday afternoon.

Word to that effect was given by the state police headquarters here Friday afternoon. While the tragic incident is regarded as purely accidental, it was deemed to be the best interest of all concerned to ascertain all facts connected with it.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wood will be held at the Kefauver & Jackson Funeral home on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Paul Sobel will conduct the services and burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

The injured women, though still in serious condition, are reported as making good progress toward recovery. An examination by attending physicians has revealed that there were no fractures. The injuries are chiefly severe lacerations and possible internal injuries.

Fathers and sons, men with boys, adopted for the occasion, gathered to enjoy themselves at the annual Father and Son banquet held at Zion Lutheran church on Thursday evening. After a delicious meal, served pot luck style, an interesting and entertaining program was given under the direction of Rev. G. A. Accordion selections were given by Miss Janet Dixner, Mickey Mouse pictures and a movie entitled, "Behind The Cup", were shown by Fred Bernhardt. Rev. Herbert gave a message appropriate to fathers and sons. The evening's fun ended with a dartball game between the men and the boys, the winner of which has not as yet been determined.

The affair was sponsored by Lutheran Brotherhood, the men's club of Zion church. The organization held a short business session during the course of the evening at which new members were received, the meeting night changed to the third Thursday of every month. Arrangements were made for the annual dartball game of the two teams of Zion church represented in the Manistique Church Dartball League on March 16.

National Boys Sunday will be observed at Zion church on February 12 at 10:30 a. m., the pastor announces.

Vienna Choir Boys
Stop Here Enroute
To Iron Mountain

Manistique, being a tourist center, seldom pays much attention to the passing stranger, and Friday's case was no exception when a bus load of youngsters stopped for dinner at a local restaurant.

But this gang of youngsters was of more than passing note for the boys were members of the Vienna Boys Choir who were on their way from Sault Ste. Marie to Iron Mountain to fill a concert engagement there.

Klaus Kolmar, who travels with the group and attends to all business matters of the party, states that the choir is made up of 22 voices—all boys ranging in age from 10 to 13. Other members of the party include the director, pianist and his wife who also serves in the capacity of mother for the boys.

Kolmar stated that the concert organization to which these boys belong is one of the oldest musical groups in existence. Choirs of this kind have been maintained for more than three hundred years in Vienna. Three groups are enroute at present time—one in South America, one in Northern Europe and the one that passed through the city Friday.

The youngsters were quiet and well mannered, spoke no English, and seemed very much pleased when spoken to in German.

Dartball League
To Hold Banquet
On February 27

The commissioners of the Manistique church dartball league met Thursday and arranged for the annual dartball banquet to be held on Monday, February 27, at 6:30 p. m., at St. Francis de Sales church school on Oak street. A delicious dinner will be served by the Lady Foresters. Rev. Paul Sobel, one of the commissioners, will be the toastmaster. He will also award the trophies to the winning teams. Rev. James H. Bell of Escanaba's recreation board, has been invited as speaker.

The second season of dartball will end on February 20. At present several teams are contesting hotly for first place. The winner of the first season will play the winner of the second season after the banquet at St. Francis de Sales school. Rev. Sobel will award the trophy to the winner.

The commissioners also decided a local tournament of games is to be played between all the teams of the league February 14, 15 and 16. A traveling trophy will be given to the winner of this series. The commissioners further decided to enter the Upper Peninsula dartball tournament to be held in Escanaba in March.

Escanaba Whips Stephenson, 47-39; Gladstone, Manistique Quintets Win

Upper Michigan Wins Novice Team Championship In Milwaukee Golden Gloves Tourney

Eskymos' 4th Quarter Drive Settles Issue

In case you're looking for Stephenson's number, you might check with the Eskymos.

They have it.

This was proved conclusively here last night when the Eskies downed the Eagles for the second time this season. It also happened to be their second victory of the season. Via rapid mental arithmetic now you will arrive at the fact that all of their triumphs to date have been achieved at Stephenson's expense.

So, if you're looking for Stephenson's number, et cetera et cetera.

Most Welcome

The score was 47-39, and it was just about as welcome a victory as ever won on record in the old archives at Eskey.

For if the Eskymos had been bounced last night by the Eagles—the one team they've been able to beat this season—sad indeed would be the Eskymos and long indeed would be the faces of (1) Coach Steve Baltic, (2) Athletic Director George Ruwiche, (3) Principal Edward Edick and (4) Superintendent of Schools John Lemmer.

The win was achieved in a conclusive manner that belied the Eskymos' seeming ineffectiveness to date. They did it with a fourth quarter scoring punch that was good to see.

Jumping into a 16-11 quarter lead and holding a 21-18 intermission margin, the Eskies had to fight off a third-quarter Eagle scoring drive that put them into the lead at 24-23 for the first, last and only time during the game.

About Face

And then, instead of the junior high gym rock caving in on the Eskymos as it has been wont to do on numerous occasions this long, cold winter, the roof caved in on the visitors.

Sparked by Messrs. Axel Anderson, Paul Baldwin, Dick Shomin, Bud Weber and Warren Johnston, who answers to the name of "Jo-Jo," the Eskymos scorched the cards for 18 points in the final period and that snowed Stephenson under.

They went into the fourth period with a slim 29-27 lead and came out of it with a sizable eight-point margin.

In case you detected Coach Baltic with his fingers crossed in the third quarter, it was because he had a double whammy on three of his charges who had four personal fouls at that point. As it turned out, he lost only one of them in the fourth quarter, Paul Baldwin.

Bees Win, Too

Eskey strategy of using both Baldwin and Shomin to gain more height paid off. Shomin held Mike Michnick to three field goals and Baldwin kept Larson fairly well under control. Michnick and Larson are in the habit, shall we say, of scoring more than three or four goals per game. Weber had a big night, hitting five buckets and three free throws for 13 counters, and Anderson clipped 10. But the scoring was well divided.

In the preliminary, Escanaba Bees won, 48-38.

UM, Gopher Sextets Meet For 100th Time

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (P) — Michigan and Minnesota get together here tonight for their 100th clash on ice.

The hockey game will be the second of a weekend series for the two Big Ten universities. Last night Michigan scored a 2 to 1 victory over its old rival.

That win was the Wolverines' 32nd in the long Michigan-Minnesota series and their eleventh of the current season. They have lost two this year.

The 1948-49 basketball season was the first in which Navy's opponents scored more than 1,000 points: The Middies made 1,064 to 1,054.

GOOD RECORD—Current edition of the Sterling, Mich., high school basketball team that has lost only one game in its last 68 starts (since 1942) is shown flashing demure smiles. This season, the Hawks—nickname of Sterling athletic teams—have posted six straight wins and are well on to their 12th straight conference championship. In front is Coach Lotta Molineaux, while the comely misses are, left to right: Anne Sweet, Irene Curtis, Barbara Marsh, Lydia Garrity, Vivian Meihls, Margo Norris, Mary Jane Gallagher, Lois Uiter, Jackie Musselman, Elaine Treichel and Ann Bootz. ### Hase Of Munising Cops Heavyweight Title As Sundman Loses By Nod

MILWAUKEE—(Special to Eskey) Daily Press—Escanaba District Boxers won the novice team championship for the third successive year in the Golden Gloves regional tournament at Milwaukee last night. Marshfield, Wis., took the open division title.

The U. P. won two individual championships.

Results of matches for Upper Peninsula fighters:

112 Pound Class—Harry Sundman of Escanaba lost a close decision to James Fink of Marshfield.

135 Pound Class—Frank Massey, Sault Ste. Marie, lost a decision to Jerry Jonas, Milwaukee Athletic club, in a terrific slug-fest match, rated the best of the tournament. Jonas was awarded the trophy for the outstanding novice boxer of the tournament and Massey received the trophy for the outstanding out-of-town boxer.

Heavyweight Class—Donald Hase of Munising defeated Benjamin O'Neill, negro boxer of Raatz Sportsmen's gym, Milwaukee, on a decision.

'Bo' Is Not A Man Who Shows Up Late

TOLEDO, O.—(P)—Punctual Bo McMillin, head coach of the Detroit Lions football club, arrived 12 days early for a speaking engagement here.

McMillin is supposed to address the Foremen's club Feb. 15. But he appeared to give his talk last night.

He couldn't remember where the meeting was to be held, so he telephoned the Toledo Times. They checked hotels and clubs, but no one had McMillin down as a speaker.

"I came here to talk to some meeting, though," the coach pursued. "Try again."

Still no luck.

"Then maybe I have the wrong date?"

He did.

LaMotta Takes Wagner By TKO

DETROIT, —(P)—Middleweight champion Jake LaMotta came up last night with a two-fisted answer to those who said he was slipping as a fighter.

The Bronx, N. Y., titleholder hung up a ninth round technical knockout over Dick Wagner of Portland, Ore., in a bruising battle at Olympia Stadium.

It was supposed to be a fairly easy go for Jake and just the first of a series of tuneup fights for LaMotta's projected title defense in June.

But a crowd of 11,440 which paid a gross gate of $25,902.52 saw the dead-game Wagner make a fight of it until 2:40 of the ninth round when Referee Clarence Rosen stopped the massacre.

Wagner, who fights as a light heavyweight, found himself in the odd position of weighing two pounds less than the middleweight champ. LaMotta came in at 170, the heaviest weight of his pro fight career.

The one-time Oregon cowhand wanted a victory last night as a wedding present for Miss Elizabeth DeLillo, a Hunter College, N. Y., student whom he will wed Feb. 19.

It was LaMotta's second bout since he won the middleweight title from Marcel Cerdan of France here last June. Robert Villmain of France outpointed La Motta in New York last December.

That fight gave rise to reports that LaMotta was slipping and that he was hesitant about putting his title on the line.

Emeralds Tip Sault's Blue Devils, 39-36

MANISTIQUE—The upset really happened. Manistique Emeralds defeated the Soo Blue Devils, 39-36, here last night.

And that isn't all.

The Emeralds led the Blue Devils every moment of that hard fought game and at one time—during the third quarter—were 10 points in the lead.

It was one game that Manistique fans will not soon forget—not only because of the upset, but because the local boys played a fast brand of basketball not seen in Manistique in years. Time and again they broke up plays and kept possession of the ball most of the time.

Bob Carlson started the ball rolling early in the set-to when he sank a neat one from under the basket. Bob Burns followed suit and Everett Patz made good on a free throw to make it five before the Soo train even got up steam.

In the second quarter Patz, Burns, Carlson and Quick scored field goals with Patz shooting one extra for good measure. Don Quick, standing near the sidelines half way up the hall responded to the urge of the fans to "shoot" and scored a neat one. The Soo boys dug in and Fitzgerald and Roc broke through the Emeralds' defense to score, but couldn't overcome the advantage.

Manistique was still going to town in the third quarter and three minutes before the quarter's end had an advantage of 10 points. But about that time the Soo boys got hot and trimmed the lead down to four points.

In the fourth period Manistique played a careful game keeping down the number of chances for the Soo to cash in on bobbled passes. The Soo managed to tighten the game during this period but not enough.

Armstrong, Tapert and Fitzgerald were the most consistent players for the Soo.

In a preliminary game between the Manistique Reserves and the Grand Marais high school, Manistique lost, 26-25.

CHICAGO—The Big Ten basketball title chase reaches its most critical stage of the season tonight when Wisconsin invades Ohio State.

The Badgers, returning to action for the first time in nearly three weeks after a mid-season examination lull, can grab the lead with a victory over the high-flying Buckeyes. Wisconsin's only loss in four league starts was 61-59 to Indiana. Ohio State has captured six wins while losing only to Illinois 66-50.

Tonight's battle at Columbus, which gives the Buckeyes the distinct home floor edge, is the only meeting this campaign between the two frontrunners for the crown. The winner will automatically become the odds-on favorite to capture it.

The game, which overshadows two other Big Ten contests sending Illinois to Minnesota and Indiana against Northwestern in Chicago stadium, matches the loop's two leading scorers. Wisconsin's Don Rehfeldt is clicking with a 21.7 average in four games in his bid to repeat as individual scoring champion. Ohio State's Dick Skutumpah has notched a 21 average in seven engagements.

Illinois, with a 3-2 record, pins its hopes of repeating for the title on sharing it with a triumph at Minnesota. The Gophers have three losses in five games but are favored over Illinois in tonight's contest at Minneapolis. Third in the individual scoring race is Minnesota's Whitely Skoog with an 18.6 average while the Gophers' center, Maynard Johnson, is sixth with 13.8. Bill Erickson, Illinois forward, is seventh with 13.6.

Northwestern, currently in a four-way tie with Minnesota, Iowa and Michigan for fifth place, goes after a win tonight in the stadium against Indiana.

SLALOM—Tor Arneberg, cutting around the flags in the slalom is Dartmouth's captain and intercollegiate ski champion, but he is matriculated from Oslo, Norway.

Nahma Overcomes Early Margin To Beat Rock By 55-40 In Central U. P.

NAHMA—Nahma threw everything but the kitchen sink in the basket the last quarter as they raced away with a 55-40 Central U. P. league victory last night over Rock in a game that had been nip-and-tuck up to that point.

Rock held a promising 12-4 quarter lead and was still ahead by 20-19 at the intermission, but Nahma started asserting itself in the third quarter and really went to town with a 21-point rally in the finale.

The dependable Larscheid turned in 18 points for the night to show the way, but he got plenty of help from Seymour, Thibault, Gerson and Soehay, all of whom shared considerably in the scoring.

RAPID RIVER ROCKETS WIN AGAIN, 48-42

MUNISING — Rapid River's Rockets, who have a habit of ruling the Central U. P. league roost, went outside of conference competition last night, but it didn't make any difference.

They won, anyway!

Eben was the victim here by a 48-42 count and that added up to Rapid River's fifteenth victory in a row without defeat this season.

All the more commendable is the fact they achieved this triumph without the services of two regulars, Horace LaBumbar and Lawrence Malnor, who are sidelined with leg infections.

But with Don Nelson, Gibson, Leonard Nelson and Sanford chunking them in, they got along very well. Don Nelson was particularly warm. He made six out of seven free throws and added four field goals to compile 14 points in the first quarter, and his tally for the night was 21 counters.

Rapid River led 19-14 at the quarter and 29-23 at halftime. In the preliminary, Rapid River Bees won, 27-20.

Braves Edge Norway, 53-52, In Overtime

GLADSTONE — In a thrilling see-saw overtime battle Gladstone high school defeated Norway 53-52 at the local gymnasium Friday evening.

It was a scoring duel between Anderson of Norway who made 28 points for the Vikings and Capt. Billy Rajala of Gladstone who had 23.

Gladstone led at quarter time 12-10 but Norway came back to outscore the Braves in the second period and had a 22-20 advantage at half time. The Braves doubled the Vikings score 16-8 in the third period but Norway came back with a rush to outscore the Braves 17-11 in the final period and knot the count 47-47.

In overtime Rajala scored a field goal and two free throws and Stade a field goal for six points while Novaska scored a field goal and Neveau a field goal and a free throw for Norway.

College, VFW Tilt Tuesday Is Feature

The highlight of next week's city league basketball program is the Cleveland College-VFW contest on Tuesday night at 8:30 in the junior high gym. These two class A fives have come out even in two previous meetings and Tuesday's tilt will be the rubber game of their series. The winner will also be in a commanding position to capture second place in the first circuit.

Monday night's headliner will also feature the Vets, this time against Andy's Bar of Bark River. The big game Thursday night brings together Powers and Mike's Bar, with both teams fighting hard to stay in the race for the class B championship. Last Thursday night Powers eked out a 40 to 37 win over Mike's, but the losers played with only five men and had to finish the game with four. With a couple of reserves to spell the first team the result may be entirely different.

The schedule for next week follows:

Monday—Shamrocks vs. Groos Drug at 6:30; Harnischfeger vs. Merchants at 7:30; Bark River vs. VFW at 8:30; Powers vs. K. of C. at 9:30.

Tuesday—Clairmont Transfer vs. Wait Window at 6:30; Gladstone Lions vs. Groos Drug at 7:30; Cleveland College vs. VFW at 8:30; Mike's Bar vs. People's Bar at 9:30.

Thursday — Harnischfeger vs. K. of C. at 6:30; Wait Window vs. Merchants at 7:30; Powers vs. Mike's Bar at 8:30; Shamrocks vs. Bark River at 9:30.

Standings:

Class A	Shamrocks	11	0
	Cleveland College	8	4

	Gladstone Lions	5	6
	Andy's Bar, Bark River	1	8
Class B	Bisbee's Groos Drug	1	10

Iron Mountain Takes Up Pro Wrestling

IRON MOUNTAIN—Rocco Regalotto, reputed to be the champion of Italy, and Tex Grady, of Texas, claimant of the U. S. Negro title will be featured on a professional wrestling card here Monday night.

The Italian will meet Howard Blazer of Greeley Bay and the Negro will take on Mike Blazer, also of Greeley Bay. In addition to the wrestling, three boxing matches will be offered.

Although they won but four football games while losing five and tying one, Mississippi Rebels led the Southeast Conference in total offense in 1949.

De La Torre Co-Leader In Tucson Golf

TUCSON, Ariz.—(P)—A champion and a newcomer in the pro ranks lead a closely packed field into today's third round of the $10,000 Tucson open golf tourney.

U. S. open titlist Cary Middlecoff, Ormond Beach, Fla., and Manuel De La Torre, Glencoe, Ill., each has a one-stroke advantage at the halfway mark. Both have 36-hole totals of 131, nine under par.

But 13 other men are five strokes or less behind. There are 53 pros and one amateur shooting par or better for the first 36 holes.

The field is taking the easy 6,402-yard El Rio course to pieces. Of the 136 pros and amateurs who finished yesterday, 49 broke par 70.

The little-known men of golf are having a field day. Of the top seven only Middlecoff is a big "name" player.

Glenn Teal, Memphis, Tenn., and Henry Williams, Jr., Secane, Pa., have totals of 132.

Teal never has won a major event. Yesterday he established a new El Rio course record of 29 for the first nine holes. Then his magic touch dimmed and he could go back one stroke under par on the back nine. A putt on the 18th green that hung on the lip of the cup but wouldn't fall cost him a first-place tie.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., leads the amateurs with 137.

Pro golf followers across the nation know Middlecoff, the man who left a dentist's office to become second high money winner in 1949.

Few had heard of Manuel De La Torre, son of an internationally-known professional from Madrid, Spain, Angel De La Torre.

Manuel was better known as an amateur. He was runner-up in the NCAA tourney in 1947. In 1946 and 1947 he captained the Northwestern university golf squad.

This is the third pro tourney in which he has played. But he started to hit a golf ball when he was only 18 months old and played an exhibition before the king and queen of Spain when he was two.

For the first two days of the present meet he has played before a gallery consisting of one person—his wife, Joan. Today he'll have to stand up under the watchful eye of thousands.

SPARTANS TRY AGAIN

HOUGHTON, Mich. — (P) — Michigan State's hockey team gets its last chance tonight to show that it is in the same class with the Michigan Tech Huskies. Last night Michigan Tech vanquished the Spartans for the third time this season, this time by a score of 11 to 2. In previous meetings the northerners won 13 to 2 and 3 to 2.

Governor Gets Nowhere With Capitol Visit

Michigan Hospital Hit By Economy

WASHINGTON—(P)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan has little encouragement from federal officials about helping to relieve his state's hospital shortage.

He discussed the situation here Friday in conferences with President Truman, Budget Director Frank P. Cullen and Veterans Administrator Carl Gray.

He asked: "Reconsideration of the Army's decision to close the Percy Jones hospital at Battle Creek."

Agreement by the Veterans Administration to take over and operate a 1,500-bed building at Fort Custer as a mental hospital.

Reversal of a VA decision halting construction of a 500-bed tuberculosis hospital at Detroit and a 200-bed medical-surgical hospital at Grand Rapids.

No Funds In VA

The governor did not disclose Mr. Truman's reaction to his requests. He indicated, however, that the drive for economy would block some of them.

In conferring with Gray, Williams declared that the VA has an average of one bed to each 146 veterans nationally, but only one for each 197 in Michigan.

Gray told him, he said, that the VA cannot build or take over hospitals unless it receives funds.

Budget Director Pace told him, however, that he would look into the possibilities of continuing Percy Jones under Army operation, transferring it to the VA, or transferring it to the state.

"We are going to do all we can to see that Percy Jones continues in operation, in one way or another," Williams said.

"Care of mental patients," he added, "is our big problem. We contemplate a 10-year $100,000,000 program for mental institutions but that will take time. We must meet the immediate need in the next few years."

In his conference with Mr. Truman, the 39-year-old governor also told of his interest in securing the proposed air force academy for Michigan. Air Secretary Stuart Symington also was told of his desire to have the multi-million dollar "West Point of the Air" located in Michigan.

Gov. Williams did not divulge the reaction of either official to the request.

Williams also urged Budget Director Pace to approve a $1,326,350 appropriation for five harbors of refuge at Port Sanilac, Port Austin, Black River, Oscoda and St. James, Beaver Island.

Pace indicated, he said, that most of the projects run head-on into Mr. Truman's rule that no funds for new developments will be included in the 1950-51 budget.

The visiting governor also thanked the Civil Aeronautics Board for conducting a hearing in Marquette last month on a franchise application from National Airlines.

In addition, he invited Mr. Truman to speak at a Detroit sales executive club meeting late in May. The president also has been asked to speak at the National Red Cross convention in Detroit in June.

Mrs. Hattie Strope Dies In Chicago

Mrs. Hattie Strope of Chicago, sister of George Saunders of 901 Second avenue south, died last night at her home, Mr. Saunders was advised today.

Mrs. Strope, who visited here recently leaves two daughters and one son. Services are being held in Chicago Monday morning.

Snowbound Montana Farms Await Help; Food Sent By Air

HELENA, Mont.—(P)—Snow-bound farms and ranches in northern Montana today expect help to break through heavy drifts which have marooned them.

Skilled-equipped planes yesterday visited isolated points and pilots mapped plans to speed medical attention, food, fuel and livestock feed to the isolated inhabitants.

The Montana National Guard had a C-47 cargo plane ready to "bomb" the blackfoot Indian reservation, just east of Glacier National Park.

Several hundred Indians are believed critically short of food and fuel and are reported slaughtering elk for emergency food. The National Guard plane will carry food and clothing on its "bombing" run.

Drifts as deep as 14 feet have plugged highways around Browning, the Indian reservation town.

Budd Body Building Big Plant At Gary

GARY, Ind.—(P)—Edward C. Budd Co. announced preliminary work will start next week on a $7,000,000 automobile body parts plant on Gary's west side.

Edward C. Budd, Jr., Philadelphia, president, said ground breaking may start Tuesday.

Construction bids were to be opened this afternoon in Detroit by Giffels and Vallet, architects and engineers for the modern-style brick plant. Budd said contracts will be awarded in Philadelphia Monday.

Public Tax Burden Rises In Michigan

LANSING.—(P)—The Michigan public tax bill has increased about six-fold in the past decade, reaching a total of $3,196,000,000 in 1949, the state revenue department reported today.

In its annual report, the department said the taxpayers bill for federal, state and local government climbed $354,000,000 in the past year.

The federal government, which took $2,548,000,000 out of Michigan last year, accounted for $296,000,000 of the $354,000,000 increase for the year.

The department said local government in Michigan accounted for the second largest increase, a climb of $39,000,000 to $286,000,000.

Costs of state government rose $19,000,000 to $326,000,000.

The 1949 federal tax burden approached the record of $2,579,900,000 during 1945, the last of the war-time industrial boom.

Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims emphasized that the tax collection figures do not accurately reflect the cost of government at state, federal and local levels. This, he said, is because a considerable portion of state and federal income is distributed to lower levels.

Nims also said that although the total tax collections in Michigan increased, individual and corporate income increased faster so that Michigan people had a greater amount left after taxes.

The federal government, which got 28.72 per cent of the tax pie in 1930, now gets 79.71 per cent, the department said. Local government, which got 49.26 per cent of the taxes in 1930, now gets 8.95 per cent. And the state, which took 22.02 per cent in 1930, now receives 11.34 per cent.

The department reported that local real estate taxes have increased from $167,300,000 in 1940 to $286,200,000, utility property taxes climbed from $9,000,000 in 1940 to $11,300,000 in 1949, retail sales taxes increased from $59,400,000 in 1940 to $149,800,000 in 1949, gasoline taxes rose from $31,200,000 to $43,100,000 in the same period and the motor vehicle tax from $21,200,000 to $34,400,000.

Nims said the revenue department cost the state $1,867,000 to operate last year, but picked up $3,004,845 in tax deficiencies, buttressing his argument that a larger number of tax auditors would make a bigger profit for the state.

The report also said that Michigan had the largest per capita collection of cigarette taxes among any of the states with such a levy.

There was nothing in Lewis' letter to confirm or deny the reports that a full scale mine stoppage is imminent.

Note Sarcastic

Here, in part, is what Lewis wrote the President:

"The industry contract expired June 30, 1949. For eight months, the organized coal operators have refused to execute a successor agreement. For eight months, the operators have gloried in the protection given them by an oppressive federal statute. For eight months, Mr. President, they have boasted that the abomination known as the Taft-Hartley Act, rendered it unnecessary to concede anything, and that in the end your high office, wielding the Taft's club, would beat the mine workers into submission.

"So now it comes to pass, Mr. President, that as a penalty for refusing the coal operators' dictated terms your office offers arbitration by three strangers, who know not of the industry nor the human beings who delve in it.

"With due respect, Mr. President, the mine workers do not wish three strangers, however well-intentioned but necessarily ill-informed, to fix their wages, decree their working conditions, define their living standards and limit the educational opportunities of their children.

"Such strangers cannot see into a mine worker's home, nor peer into the hearts of his loved ones. The mine workers believe that as free citizens in a free country they have an inherent right to pass upon these vital considerations themselves, and that no stranger, however situated, should be given such power over their lives."

The bitter contract struggle which began last spring has kept the mines closed down or working only a three-day week since a mine-union contract expired June 30.

From western Pennsylvania, home of half of the 100,000 miners who were on strike last week, came word that only a contract would send them back to the pits now.

Reports from Illinois—mainly from operators, but also from at least one union committeeman—said that Lewis already had telegraphed United Mine Workers locals across the nation to call out all of the 400,000 soft coal miners on Monday.

Stocks Run Low

Other reports from similar sources denied this.

Should it prove true, however, Mr. Truman would have to decide whether to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act emergency machinery and call on the court for an injunction to order the miners into the pits for 80 days.

The president is pledged to repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and he has tried to avoid using it. Lewis, too, is one of the act's most vigorous critics.

By using the three-day week and a 52-day strike which began on Sept. 19, Lewis succeeded in reducing the coal stock from 75 days' supply last spring to an estimated 15 days supply now. The dearth of fuel provides him a powerful pressure weapon in bargaining.

President Truman has used the Taft-Hartley Act machinery twice in the past to try to halt coal mine shut downs.

Girl Injured By Car Friday

Sally Crusher, 13, of 227 North 20th street, suffered a slight concussion and cuts and bruises at 4 p. m. Friday when she was hit by a car driven by Raymond Meyers, 30, of Bark River, Route One.

The young girl was crossing Stephenson avenue, at the North Second avenue intersection. Meyers told city police he saw three and that one boy ran across and a boy and girl seemed to be waiting for him to pass. He told police that he was driving about 15 mph.

Meyers skidded several paces after he applied his brakes, to avoid hitting the girl.

She was taken to St. Francis hospital, where authorities report her condition as good.

Churches Study Economic Ills

Four-Day Conference Opens In Detroit

BY SELIG S. HARRISON

DETROIT.—(P)—Nationally known church lay leaders from business and labor will meet with clergymen here Feb. 16 for a four-day conference on the nation's economic ills.

The discussions are sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches. Nearly 400 delegates representing 23 religious denominations and local church councils in 30 states will gather to study "The Church and Economic Life."

United Auto Workers (CIO) President Walter P. Reuther and Noel Sargent, secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers, typify the public figures of widely divergent economic view points scheduled to take part.

Dr. Arthur S. Fleming, chairman of the federal council's department on the church and economic life, stressed that the delegates will come together "not as representatives of their respective economic groups, but as active members of Christian churches examining economic problems in the light of the Christian Gospel."

Dr. Fleming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, heads a $100,000 federal council program endowed by the Rockefeller Foundation for the study of economic life.

Mercy Murder Trial Of Carol Ann Paight Near Final Argument

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—(P)—Carol Ann Paight's mercy murder trial was in weekend recess today while both sides readied their final arguments.

The case, first of its kind in Connecticut history, may reach an all-parent jury of nine women and three men before next Tuesday night.

The recess ends Tuesday morning when the prosecution opens its summation, highlighting for the jury the points brought out in evidence. The defense follows with its final arguments.

Then the state makes its closing statement.

Superior Judge John A. Cornell's charge to the jury is expected to take about an hour. He is required to instruct the jury on the legal meaning of temporary insanity, the point on which the entire second degree murder case turns.

Carol, 21-year-old blonde college girl, shot her father to death Sept. 23 after she learned he was incurably ill of cancer. The father, Carl Paight, was a sergeant of the Stamford, Conn., police force.

Carol faces life imprisonment if convicted. She is pleading temporary insanity.

Coast Guard Gets Screwy Queries

By ED CREACH

NEW YORK — (P) — From a yacht off the Virginia coast the distress message flashed:

"Wife's hair has been set by home permanent wave outfit. Neutralizer spilled and lost. We have no way to remove permanent solution. Advise soonest what to do."

Ashore, a coast guard lieutenant rubbed his chin, sighed deeply and reached for the telephone. Within an hour, dots and dashes spelled out this message to the distressed husband:

"Try four ounces peroxide in quart of water. If no peroxide available, wash 10 times with any soap and shampoo."

And so the coast guard search and rescue division chalked up another victory over disaster—and another story was entered in the home of the largest technical school of this type in the world.

"D. F." stands for the kind of question that people keep asking the third coast guard district night and day—by wireless, by phone and in person.

Save Lumber Truck In Broken Bay Ice

A heavy truck and a load of lumber that broke through Little Bay de Noc ice a half-mile west of Farmers dock at Stonington today was being salvaged, it was reported by Walter DeGrave of Lake Shore drive, Escanaba.

The accident occurred at 2:30 p. m. yesterday as DeGrave was driving the truck from Stonington to Escanaba. The truck had been loaded with lumber from the Wilbert DeGrave saw mill at Stonington.

The rear end of the truck, heavily weighted with lumber, went through the ice but the front end of the truck stayed up. No one was injured in the accident.

DeGrave advised other motorists using the "ice bridge" to Stonington avoid the weak spot in the ice and use a detour that has been planned for it.
